CONTRACT ON LEGAL WORK GIVEN THIS NEWSPAPER

Readers of News Will Get Official Information on Council's Action

The Glendale Evening News is now the official newspaper of the city of Glendale, the City Council having unanimously awarded it the contract for one year for publishing and printing of all the city's legal work. The contract was awarded to The Glendale Evening News because this newspaper's bid on the combined publishing and printing was the lowest submitted.

In view of the fact that the city's legal advertising contains matters of vital interest to the taxpayers and residents generally of Glendale, and, too, because this paper publishes the official minutes of the city council in full, readers of The Glendale Evening News will receive official municipal information not given anywhere else.

First Class Service
The first of the city's legal advertising appears in this issue. It is printed on page 4 and is not scattered about the columns and pages. This will be the policy of The Glendale Evening News—to give first class service to both city and readers.

In the legal publications appearing today is a notice of a public hearing before the city council on November 15, on the establishment of a first class residential district, Tract No. 934, Pearson tract and certain lots in Glendale boulevard tract.

There is a notice of public hearing before the city council, November 15, on the petition asking that a commercial district be enlarged to include certain lots in Vine Cottage tract.

Residential Ordinance
Also, there is a notice of a public hearing on November 15, on the petition asking amendment of an ordinance so that erection of two single family residences or duplexes or double bungalows may be permitted in a first class residential district, in Houston's West Glendale tract.

There is also a resolution of intention of the city council to improve portions of Cerritos avenue and Gardena avenue. A hearing is set for November 22.

Incorrect Information Given Evening News

In The Glendale Evening News of Friday, October 26, 1923, there appeared an article stating: "Widow Store Keeper Appeals for Justice." Mrs. Lowrey, who had set the name used and the address given was 401 South Pacific avenue where a store is conducted. Such was the information given The Glendale Evening News. It was incorrect.

Mrs. Appenfelder states that neither she nor her store was concerned in the matter of moving a store from near the Pacific avenue school. She did not present a petition to the city council, as was stated in the article. She did not and does not seek inferiority to the school children, as was inferred by those who protested the petition filed by another person.

Mrs. Appenfelder is not a widow. The store at 401 South Pacific avenue was not concerned in the controversy which ended Monday night by the council. The Glendale Evening News prints this statement of the matter to correct the impression that Mrs. Appenfelder was concerned. Our informant was in error.

GIRL TAKES POISON

WINNEMUCA, Nev., Oct. 31.—Rose Erringer, high school student, aged 17, died early today fifteen minutes after she had taken poison upon returning home from a party.

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 31.—The partly decomposed skeleton and body of a woman were found buried three feet underground near the coast highway at Refugio, thirty miles north of here.

Everybody Out! Hallowkiwanis at High School Field

Over 1000 children from the grade schools have already signified their intention to march in the Hallowkiwanis parade tonight, reports William Bode, general chairman and grand marshal, while more responses are pouring in hourly and several hundred students from the Glendale Union High school have been pledged by A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal, and president of the local Kiwanis club, which is sponsoring the big demonstration.

The parade starts at 7:15 o'clock, and Mr. Bode urges parents to co-operate with the children to have them at Louise and Harvard streets promptly, where they will form in the following order:

Order of March
Group 1—Harvard at Maryland, facing west.
Group 2—Harvard and Louise, facing west.
Group 3—Louise, north of Harvard, facing south.
Group 4—Louise, south of Harvard, facing north.

The line of march will be up and down Brand boulevard, between Colorado street and Wilson avenue, with the Postoffice, Scouts, Elks and Community Service bands furnishing harmony. All children will be in costume and the judges will make their selections of the twenty-eight to receive fine prizes donated by local merchants.

Huge Bonfire
Following the parade, the Hallowkiwanis festival will be continued on the Glendale Union High school athletic field, where a huge bonfire will be lit and many games and sports played. Cage-ball will be played instead of push-ball, for the fifty-two-pound boxes of Kaighn's candy donated by a special Kiwanian group.

The contests will be Glendale Avenue Intermediates vs. Wilson Avenue Intermediates and sophomores vs. freshmen, with twenty-five players on a side in each game.

The teams were organized by C. E. Willibrand, new physical training supervisor for city schools. Coach Normal Hayhurst will have charge of athletic events. Parents are advised to (Continued on Page 8)

WINTER'S FLOODS MENACE TO CITY

C. of C. Committee to Ask
Aid of County to Avert
Damage Threat

The necessity for immediate action to control the floods that are due during the coming winter was stressed by L. T. Rowley of the flood control committee, at the weekly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce last night, when he declared that the erosion that will follow the first rains of the season on the Verdugo hills, that were recently swept by fire, will cause a distinct menace to the city.

It is important, Mr. Rowley declared, that immediate steps be taken to care for the after-effects of the fire and to hold the threatened damage to the smallest possible extent, and the members of the flood control committee will ask the financial aid of the county supervisors in handling the floods during the winter. The destruction of the brush covering on the hills adjacent to Glendale will permit an uninterrupted flow of water on the surface of the soil, and will tend to wash down quantities of debris that would otherwise have been retained on the hills, it is claimed.

Mr. Rowley also reported on the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, which will be held in Glendale on Tuesday, November 27, and urged the importance of Glendale's maintaining a close alliance with the other cities of the valley in working out the solution of the various problems that are exercising a vital influence on the welfare of the entire region.

Postoffice Report
Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson reported to the board on his recent trip east, when he secured the confirmation of the Lewis Monroe proposal to erect a new building to house the postoffice in Glendale, as well as other requests that he had made for the improvement of the local service. The plans for the new building, Captain Jackson stated, are almost completed, and as soon as they (Continued on Page 8)

M'CORMICK HITS AID FOR EUROPE

Let 'Em Stew in Their Own
Juice, Says Caustic Critic
of Administration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Senator Medill McCormick, Republican of Illinois, first of the senate irreconcilables to break into print with caustic criticism of the Coolidge-Hughes plan for aiding Europe, fired another barrel today. He issued another statement advising the White House and state department to quit trying to bolster up European markets of doubtful value and instead to cultivate friendships and new trade opportunities on this side of the Atlantic, in the stable republics of South and Central America.

Let Europe Stew
Senator McCormick is in favor of letting Europe stew in its own juice of "ancient hatred and jealousies."

Instead of dispatching a commission of American business men to Europe, Senator McCormick said he wished the president would dispatch to Latin-America a commission of farmers, manufacturers and bankers to develop new fields for investments and fields for exports.

The Illinois senator's second statement today, while not as extravagantly critical of the administration as the first one in which he referred to the state department as being filled with "lotus eaters," nevertheless made it apparent that the irreconcilable group in the senate is not going to look with equanimity on efforts to have the United States become embroiled with the reparations controversy in Europe.

"It is not fair to the American people," said McCormick.

Points to England
"We must realize that at best, with present obstacles to economic regeneration, the establishment of European markets will be a long and difficult task. For a year the English have been painstakingly developing new fields for investment abroad and seeking new markets for exports. The first of the most significant of this year we have sold as much to the New World—to the Americas—as we did to all Continental Europe, exclusive of Russia. Here in the Americas is to be found the source of our prosperity."

Bonar Law's Burial at Westminster Monday

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Former Premier Andrew Bonar Law who died early Tuesday after a long illness, will be buried in Westminster Abbey at noon Monday, it was announced today.

This is a signal tribute to Bonar Law's statesmanship for only the very greatest of England's sons have had the honor to rest in the abbey burial ground.

Messages of condolence continued to arrive today from all parts of Europe and America. It was understood that funeral services will be held at Glasgow, where Bonar Law lived and where he was elected to parliament.

Claim Sinclair Made 17 Millions in Deal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Because of the withholding for three weeks of the public announcement of the leasing of the Teapot dome naval reserves to the Sinclair interests, Harry F. Sinclair realized a profit of more than $17,000,000 from sale or trade of stocks of the Mammoth Oil company, controlling the reserves. H. V. Reavis, of New York, an oil magazine publisher, charged before the senate public lands committee this afternoon.

HEARTACHES AT ELLIS ISLAND

Thousands Will Be Turned Back as Immigration
Quota Is Filled

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Hundreds of hearts will be broken, dreams of a lifetime will be shattered here tonight. Of the 17,945 immigrants from every nation of Europe, Asia and Africa, who today knock at America's door—Ellis Island—only a part can enter under the November immigration quota.

Thousands Turned Back
"Hundreds, perhaps thousands, must turn back," Henry Curran, commissioner of immigration, said today. "Ellis Island has never faced such a problem. With but four months of the immigration fiscal year past, many national quotas are within but a few score of being completed until the new allotments of next June."

"The law allows 357,803 immigrants yearly," Curran explained. "By Thanksgiving day at least 325,000 of this year's quota will have been admitted. This will mean only about 25,000 may enter America until July 1, 1924—the new fiscal year."

Near Allotments
"Great Britain's remaining quota of 14,854 will, in all probability, be exhausted by Sunday. France and Denmark are even nearer the end of their allotments."

"The immigration from Germany is the most surprising of all. Last year, but very few German immigrants came over. We had more than 11,000 in October this year."

Crime Topic Before Exchange Luncheon

"There were sixty-four more burglaries in Los Angeles in 1917 than in all of Great Britain, except Ireland," declared Dr. Charles R. Dirks, professor at Occidental college and senior physician in the Los Angeles general hospital before this noon's Exchange club luncheon in Jensen's Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard. "All over the world crime has been steadily on the increase since 1890. In California, as elsewhere, the jails, penitentiaries and insane asylums are crowded."

"It is a situation fraught with danger. Instead of studying the criminal, we have been studying the crime. The solution lies in the individual. Defectives form 2 per cent of the population. Criminals form 2 per cent of the population. The inference is obvious. The criminals are coming from the defective classes." Corrective measures against defectives were suggested by Dr. Dirks.

FIREBUG TO TRIAL
SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—Charged with the death of ten Japanese children who were trapped in a fire which destroyed the Japanese mission school here last April, Fortuna Padilla, confessed firebug, was scheduled to go on trial here Wednesday.

SOCIALISTS ASK EBERT TO QUIT

German Crown Prince May Return Home as Red
Strike Fizzles

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
BERLIN, Oct. 31.—Socialist party leaders at a meeting here today demanded the resignation of President Ebert and the socialist ministers in the Stresemann government.

The socialists adopted a resolution protesting against the death sentence imposed upon a young communist who took part in the rioting at Hamburg last week.

Strike Fizzles Out
The three-day general strike proclaimed by the communists in Saxony in retaliation for repressive measures taken by the Berlin government, has fizzled out. Dresden reported that the trade unions refused to support the movement.

It is learned authoritatively that the German ex-crown prince is making desperate efforts through emissaries to secure the German government's permission to return to his German estates to live as a private citizen. So far, all his efforts have failed due to the central government's fear that Wilhelm's return at this time might aggravate the internal situation at this time. It is reported he already has obtained consent of the Dutch government to leave Holland.

It is understood that the ex-crown prince is hopeful of success and already has bought a high powered motor car.

Britain to Invite U. S. Participation

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Following receipt of replies from the allied powers agreeing to the appointment of an international commission of experts to fix Germany's capacity for reparations payments, Great Britain now intends to suggest a joint allied communication to Washington inviting the United States to participate, it was learned at the foreign office today.

It is the idea of Great Britain that the request to Washington to send a competent delegate to join the committee would have more weight if signed by all the allies.

The inter-allied reparations commission at Paris is expected to determine the terms of the conference and the conditions under which it will work.

Women Ask Who Pays Peace Dove To Flap in U. S.?

By SONIA LEE
For International News Service
DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 31.—Discovery of who it is that pays the expense of having the dove of peace flap its wings over women's conventions of various kinds is the object of a resolution sent today to the resolutions committee of the biennial meeting of the national council of women.

Spokesmen of the resolution made it plain that, while they favor peace, they are eager to ascertain the source of money, the methods and memberships of the organizations which deluge women's conventions with propaganda.

Safety First
They are eager to strain the emotionalism from such agitation to prevent women being stampeded into movements, which go under the rules of peace promotion, international leagues, courts and other such projects.

The resolution began to take form with a demand from Mrs. Hayland H. Lund of Washington, D. C., that a committee be appointed to investigate peace organizations. Opposition came in the form of a remark from Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead of Boston, Mass., chairman of the council's peace committee.

"Then you would have us go into the detective business?" "The word 'detective' provoked a protest from Mrs. Lund. She demanded the chairman retract it."

Question Sources
"But you would have us detect what the subtle influences are," Mrs. Mead countered. "This would require certain peculiar characteristics."

"Do you ask us to accept," demanded Mrs. Lund, "anything without questioning its source and motive?"

The presiding officer interposed the observation that reasonable persons did not question the source of reasonable requests. The issue rested with Mrs. Mead's heated statement that "accusations have been made that action has been inspired by factions with axes to grind."

SITE BOUGHT BY FORBES COST U. S. $105,000

Details of Livermore, Calif.,
Deal Are Revealed in Senate Probe

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—

The senatorial investigation of the United States veterans' bureau, which has been concerned for the most part with the activities of former Director Charles R. Forbes, came sharply down to recent events today when Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, the present director of the bureau, took the stand to tell of expenditures in connection with the establishment of a veterans' hospital at Livermore, Cal.

After testifying that Matthew O'Brien of San Francisco had received $64,000 from the government for a set of construction plans which were never used, General Hines declared that O'Brien had received a check for an additional $33,193 from J. L. McCarl, the comptroller general of the United States, on October 22, although officials of the veterans' bureau disapproved and opposed the second claim.

Hines charged the comptroller-general with violating the rule among government departments in the payment of claims.

Architect's Commission
Hines further testified that O'Brien's original plan when submitted to contractors was so incorrect that the lowest bid was $2,174,000, and that the architect was paid in part on the latter sum.

"You mean that O'Brien's commission was based on a contract in which he agreed the plan would be for a hospital not to cost more than $1,161,000?" Senator Reed, republican of Pennsylvania, inquired, "then O'Brien prepared plans that the lowest bid was $2,174,000 and, although he exceeded the contract he was paid a fee on the basis of this larger sum?"

"That is right," Hines replied. As a side light to the Livermore investigation, Hines revealed that the veterans' bureau is now preparing a rating table for veterans so they can be rated according to occupations.

"It is true," Hines said, "that occupational disability has not been given due consideration. A report is expected soon on this from a committee of experts."

Following Hines on the stand was Col. E. J. Boughton, of the veterans' bureau legal staff, who confirmed details of the O'Brien transaction.

Reveals Site Sale
The commission called Lucien B. Johnson of San Francisco, to describe the sale of the Livermore site to the government at a profit of approximately $55,000. Johnson told of buying the hospital site for $19,457 and placing improvements on it valued at $26,674, and finally selling it to the government for $105,000. Although he was examined for an hour, no testimony was revealed that even hinted at any unusual procedure in the transaction.

P. G. Boyd Critically Injured in Crash

P. G. Boyd, 3937 Revere avenue, was seriously injured this morning on San Fernando road, near the southern city limits, when, in an effort to avoid a collision with another car, he swerved too sharply to the right. His machine turned over, pinning Mr. Boyd underneath.

Assistance was given immediately, and the injured man was removed to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital by R. M. Grumling, 823 South Maryland street. There it was found that he was suffering from a fractured skull and hemorrhage. A later report from the hospital stated that his condition was critical.

Birthday Surprise
Rev. Charles R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue, well-known Glendalian, and chaplain of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., succeeded yesterday in accomplishing what he has been trying to do for fifty years, surprise Mrs. Norton. It was Mrs. Norton's birthday, and in order to carry out a surprise celebration Rev. Norton enlisted the aid of their daughter, Mrs. Lester H. Jones of 919 East Lexington drive, and a birthday luncheon for a small group of friends was given at the Jones home.

In the meantime Rev. Norton had taken the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. into his confidence, and when Mrs. Norton arrived home from the luncheon she found her home filled with fifty friends to help her celebrate her seventieth birthday.

Rev. Norton was the genial master of ceremonies, first greeting Mrs. Norton on the occasion of her birthday, and then the guests in an informal program. "When You and I Were Young, 'Jennie,'" was sung by two young women of Rev. Norton's Sunday school class; a short talk was given by C. H. Clark, adjutant of the N. P. Banks post; Mrs. Flora Pixley for the W. R. C.

Mrs. Jack Rehberg gave a group of readings, and Mrs. W. A. Saylor sang an old-time song. The feature event was cutting the big birthday cake, beautifully decorated with seven tiny figurines representing the years of Mrs. Norton's birth.

In bidding Rev. and Mrs. Norton farewell the company joined in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

At the luncheon at noon at Mrs. Jones' home, grateful bouquets and greenery were used effectively in decoration. A beautiful white birthday cake with yellow and white candles formed the centerpiece for the luncheon table. Dainty yellow bon-bon baskets, place cards and other table appointments in the same shade were also used.

Covers were laid for the guest of honor, Mrs. C. R. Norton; Mrs. Mary Shropshire, Mrs. A. K. Crawford and Mrs. F. E. Anderson. The two families were formerly neighbors in Spokane, Wash.

Honor Pastors
Dr. and Mrs. H. I. Rasmus and their son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. H. I. Rasmus, were honored Monday night, when over 250 of their church people at the First Methodist church, gathered in the church social hall to celebrate the return of Dr. Rasmus and his son to the local pastorate for another year.

The affair was arranged by the men's brotherhood of the church and during the short brotherhood business meeting the resignation of the president, C. C. Cunningham, was read and accepted. C. S. McKee was master of ceremonies and introduced as speakers Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church, and Rev. Julius Soper, who spoke in behalf of the churches of the city; F. M. Edwards, who brought a message from the Sunday school; Mrs. W. M. Collins, for the churchwomen; Frank Weller for the men.

A clever entertainment stunt was given by the business men's class. Punch was served by the Philatheas.

Mrs. Pierson Hanning was in charge of the decorating and was complimented for the artistic work of her committee.

Hosts to Friends
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sturgess of West Wilson avenue were hosts last night to a number of local and Los Angeles friends at a novel and delightfully appointed Halloween party. The house was appropriately decorated for the occasion in the usual colors of black and orange, with strange and weird characters placed about the rooms. Several ghosts stood around the front door to welcome the guests as they entered.

The evening was enjoyed in music, dancing and games of various kinds, the program including a number of recitations by Mrs. Thelma Olds and several comic vocal selections by Harold French of Los Angeles.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Olds, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Olds, Mr. and Mrs. L. Pomeroy and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seovell, of this city; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold French, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Sands, Miss Catherine Myers, Miss Florence Venable, Robert Young and Kenneth Huff, of Los Angeles.

With Mrs. Black
Glendale Presbyterian church women were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. David Black, 350 Kenneth Road. They met at 10 o'clock in the morning and at noon enjoyed a luncheon. Mrs. Black serving coffee and cake.

All Day Meeting
The aid of Casa Verdugo Methodist church will hold an all-day meeting Thursday at the church. Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock. The afternoon will be spent in needlework, completing articles to be on sale at the annual bazaar to take place in December. Mrs. John W. Cotton will be in charge of the meeting.

When you have blundered you make a second blunder by covering it up.

Philathea Party

Prominent among a number of delightful affairs which have been given during the week in the celebration of Halloween, was the affair given last night by the members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church, when they entertained their friends with a progressive masquerade party.

The first home to be visited by the jolly group, which numbered over fifty, was that of Miss Ethel Thomas, 816 East Elk street. As each guest arrived, they were met by a spooky ghost and dancing clown who directed them through the back door of the Thomas home where they were greeted by clammy handshaking ghosts and other weird and uncanny spooks. Before unmasking prizes were awarded for costumes as follows: Prize for best couple was awarded to Miss Mary Rich and Miss Helen Ingledue; crazy costume, Glen Roberts; most unusual costume, Elwood Ingledue; and Miss Marion Gray was awarded prize for complete disguise. After awarding the prizes the guests unmasked and a get-acquainted game was played.

The second place visited was the home of Miss Eleanor Perkins, 145 North Cedar street. Here games, contests and races were enjoyed and fortunes told by a witch fortune teller.

The home of Miss Gladys Flagg, 149 South Pacific avenue, was the last place to be visited where the buffet supper was served.

All three of the homes visited were artistically decorated in the Halloween colors, with pumpkins, witches, black cats, and festoons of black and orange crepe paper and the quaint, charming and weird costumes of the guests added a colorful touch to the affair which was altogether delightful.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the event included Misses Marie Oliver, Lois Percy, Eleanor Perkins, Ethel Thomas, and Gladys Flagg.

Entertains Girls

Mrs. E. W. Palutzke of 445 Myrtle street proved a delightful hostess last night, when she gave a jolly Halloween party for her daughter Edith.

Of course, the Halloween colors, black and orange, were used in profusion with autumn leaves and flowers. An enjoyable program of Halloween games was arranged by the Palutzkes, who later served appropriate refreshments.

The little girls entertained were Elizabeth Houston, Louise Radour, Virginia Dunklin, Zora Glassey, Anita Halverson, Virginia Horner, Marjorie Faulkner, Eunice Jones, Bernice Skogland, Dorothy Brown, Fay Clatter, Patricia Corbaley, Debene Housman, Nelda McLain, Jeanette Zeitlin, Louise Hinze and Edith Palutzke.

Guests at Studio
The music studio at the home of Mrs. Pearl G. Curran, 214 East Chestnut street, was the scene of a jolly Halloween party Saturday night, when the members of the Euterpe club entertained their young friends at a costume party.

The rooms were decorated with black cats and pumpkins, and the lights shaded with orange and black. All the guests wore masks.

The evening was spent with various lively games, "old but never new," adding to the fun. Anna Stutzman was awarded first prize for evolving the greatest number of words in a limited number of minutes, from pastry letters.

Refreshments of cider, doughnuts and marshmallows were served. Approximately fifty were present.

Gives Masquerade
Harvest time decorations consisting of branches of autumn foliage, pumpkins, corn, witches and black cats formed a bewitching setting for the Halloween masquerade party given Saturday night by Charlotte Isabel Phister at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Phister of 1432 Valley View road.

Halloween stunts and games were the diversion of the evening. Refreshments suggestive to the Halloween season were served.

Those present included Jimmie and Junie Horn, Dorothy Lewis, Evelyn and Jimmie Appel, Kenneth and Doris Reichard, Bob Rattray, Jacqueline Young, Martha Ann Baines, Ruth Priest, John Elliott, Jimmie Walker of Glendale and Ann Lambert of Los Angeles, cousin of the hostess.

En Route West
The many friends of John L. Watson, formerly of 530 North Central avenue, whose marriage in the east was a recent event, will be glad to learn he and Mrs. Watson and son, Lewis, are en route to Glendale via automobile to make their home.

Their home in Michigan for the past year and a half. Word received by Nathan Ridgdon states they left Denver, Colo., yesterday, and will arrive here in a very few days.

R. T. U. Club Party
The R. T. U. club enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Janice Tuttle, 617 Vine street, on Saturday night. The house was decorated with autumn foliage, Jack o'lanterns and black cats, and other symbols of the season. It was a masquerade and along with the ghosts were many pretty and unique costumes.

Games were enjoyed till 10 o'clock when refreshments appropriate to the season were served. There were twenty boys and girls present.

Canadian Dance

Mrs. Hugh Allen is chairman of the committee arranging the Halloween dance for the Canadian club for Thursday night in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard. It will be a masked affair and the dance music will be furnished by the Kelly Shrine club orchestra.

Affair at Club
The graciousness of harvest time hospitality was emphasized last night at the wonderful Halloween dinner, dance and card party given at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse under the auspices of the ways and means committee with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery as chairman.

Never has the new clubhouse been so artistically and beautifully decorated for a dinner and dancing affair as it was last night.

To Mrs. Estelle Brain of the Glendale Book store goes the praise for the brilliant Halloween decorations in the banquet room, where dinner was served and dancing enjoyed later.

Showers of yellow, orange and black crepe paper streamers fell from the wrought iron chandeliers and from wire frames specially fashioned for the occasion. Pumpkin faces and autumn leaves tipped many of these streamers. Other streamers ran from the chandeliers to the side walls and corners of the room.

Over each door was the head of the (Additional Society on Page 8)

C. OF C. DIRECTORS WILL BE GUESTS

Representatives of Concrete Industries to Banquet Here November 20

The directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce are to be guests at the dinner that is to be given for the representatives of the Associated Concrete Industries at the Tuesday Afternoon club on November 20.

An invitation from R. E. Johnson, president of the Concrete Products' association, and head of the Concrete Brick & Tile Co., 440 South San Fernando road, sent the invitation to the board, stating that he expects to see at least 150 representatives of the concrete industry present at the banquet from various parts of Southern California, when matters of importance to the industry will be discussed.

On account of the banquet date falling on Tuesday night, the regular meeting of the directors will be changed to noon of the same day, when the business session will be held at Jensen's Egyptian Village.

The regular meeting scheduled for Tuesday, November 6, will also be held at noon in the Egyptian Village, as the benefit performance for the fire victims is to be held on that night.

The Chamber of Commerce will also be represented strongly at San Fernando on November 9, which has been set aside as San Fernando Valley Day at the Merchants' Exposition that is to be held in that city. It is planned to take a big delegation of business men from Glendale to aid in the celebration.

Dr. Walter Turnbull of Toronto, Canada, is to speak at the Gospel Tabernacle church, corner of Louise and Chestnut, tonight at 7:30. Dr. Turnbull is one of the best-informed men on missions in the United States, and will tell the most amazing things concerning the peoples of these neglected fields.

Dr. Turnbull is one of a strong party of speakers who are out in the interests of the Christian and Missionary alliance. Other members of the party are Dr. J. Gregory Mantle of London, England; Rev. Paul Rader, well known as pastor of the Moody tabernacle, Chicago, and now president of the Christian and Missionary alliance; Rev. Thomas Mosley of west China, and Rev. E. J. Richards of New York.

The party will be at the Glendale Gospel tabernacle for three days, beginning next Sunday morning.

GREAT SETTINGS FOR MRS. WIGGS

Cabbage Patch Play Already Assured Success Friday and Saturday Night

"That the production of 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch' on Friday and Saturday nights of this week will be a brilliant success is already an assured fact. Never before has such a complete stage setting been offered to the Glendale public.

The exterior sets of the Wiggs and Hazy homes are marvels of stage construction. Indeed, Mrs. Fannie Stockbridge says they are very much better than those used in the Morisco offering when produced in Los Angeles. These sets alone would sell for $300. They have been designed by Robert Stevenson, formerly of the Little theatre of Chicago, and built under his personal supervision by Bill Boyden, Ray Stinson, Ed Shockley and other volunteer workers.

The play itself is the most wholesome of stories, portraying comedy and pathos altogether fascinating to any audience.

Professional Acting

The acting of the members of the cast is professional in smoothness and finish. 'Mrs. Hazy' is played by Mrs. Fannie Stockbridge, the original 'Mrs. Hazy' of the Morisco production; 'Mrs. Wiggs' is portrayed with a breadth of conception and charm by Mrs. Adalene Wheeler Bradley; the comic part of 'Mrs. Edith' played by Dorothy Woods is a most appealing role; 'Mr. Stubbins' by Ray Stinson, and 'Mr. Wiggs' by Mr. Clark, are two of the finest male characterizations ever seen on an amateur stage. The minor roles are equally good.

OXY ELEVEN WILL TACKLE WHITTIER

Conference Title at Stake in Saturday's Battle on Quakers' Field

By LARRY RAYMOND
Written for The Evening News

The Occidental college varsity football eleven, after a two weeks' vacation from hard competition, are raring to go next Saturday afternoon in their second conference game against the Whittier boys. The "Howling one thousand" were rather lucky to defeat S. B. U. C. by the scant margin of two markers, due to the inability of the Cub place-kickers. Oxy's well-oiled machine is going to do its stuff and show the other colleges in the conference just why the Tigers are going to cop the title this season. The orange and black have on display any afternoon at Paterson field the slickest light eleven in the southern conference. They have the necessary co-operation that wins games and every man is proficient in all forms of the game. Passing, punting, kicking, tucking and running interference are done equally well by the Tigers.

Plenty of Coaches
Oxy's coaching staff is gradually increasing until soon there will be enough coaches to form a team and play scrimmage with the varsity. Coach "Timberwolf" Pipal is now aided by a cohort of expert college stars of former days. Head Line Coach Rundquist was the mainstay of the Illinois State team in 1917, playing one of the tackle positions. Sid Nickols has arrived to help the boys. He was quarterback on that same team. He is working with the backfield and already great improvement is shown. Shoaf has lost a little of that "frail" stuff acquired in the Stanford game. His batting average is increasing.

Whittier's Veterans
Whittier has a fighting aggregation with many veterans. They know the art of passing and will rely on end runs and forward passes to win. Oxy is not going up against odds and a team that outweighs them twenty pounds to a man, as was the case in the Card tangle. The Tigers show plenty of power and have the ability to run up a good pile of touchdowns when the opponents are not too much heavier.

Captain Johns of Whittier is a whirlwind quarter with plenty of speed. He is a good open field runner and made the necessary long runs that defeated Caltech and the Cubs.

In Ferguson and Ebers are a pair of nifty punters capable of holding their own. Ferguson did excellent work against the Cubs. Ebers will do all the foot work for Oxy. Oxy's ends are speedier and better tacklers. The scoring power of Occidental is also superior.

Oxy Freshman Team Will Play Dinuba
Friday afternoon Coach Tuffy Conn will collect his twenty or more hand-picked frosh grid demons and head north for Dinuba where the Occidental freshmen will meet the prep eleven in a return game. The first game played two weeks ago on Paterson field resulted in a Tiger victory of 19 to 0.

The first game was only a warming-up, so to speak, and Coach Conn believes his team will hand the Green and White a thrashed dish next Saturday afternoon. The entire frosh crew are at last out of the hospital. Captain Mike Godet will head his

U. S. C. AND BEARS WILL SET RECORD

83,000 Expected to Crowd L. A. Coliseum Nov. 10 for Big Game

More than 55,000 seats have already been sold for the big California-U. S. C. football game, to be played in the Coliseum on Saturday, November 10. It was announced today by Gwynn Wilson, general manager. With interest in the Trojans renewed following their victory over Stanford last Saturday, Wilson anticipates a capacity crowd of 83,000 persons at the coming clash between the north and the south.

This game is more than a contest between two universities. It is Los Angeles against San Francisco, and thousands of persons from all sections of the state and elsewhere will be on hand to cheer their favorite.

The Trojans will enjoy a week's lay-off, having no game scheduled for this Saturday. This rest of two weeks will give Henderson's men a chance to get back into condition after their tough battle with Stanford. California plays Nevada this week.

Frosh Game Saturday
The only immediate game in which the U. S. C. rooters are interested is the clash on Saturday between Leo Calland's Trojan frosh and the freshmen of the University of California. This game will be played Saturday in Berkeley and will be the last contest of the season for the local babes, who are undefeated. They won over the Stanford freshmen last Saturday, 10 to 0.

Henderson gave his men a rest on Monday, but Tuesday afternoon he had them out on Bovard field again, going through their preliminary work in preparation for the big game with the Bears. Henderson said that all of his men will be in condition for the game with the exception of Gordon Campbell, his star fullback, who is suffering from two cracked ribs.

Henderson's greatest backfield player, and if he fails to get into the line-up against the Bears, the Trojan offensive will be at its minimum strength.

California defeated U. S. C. last year, 12 to 0. Despite their recent defeat at the hands of Washington, the Trojans are working strong enough to give the Bears a great battle.

HOT OFF THE GRID
The Illinois squad seems to be in fine shape and there are not likely to be any changes in the line-up of the Chicago game unless Zupple discovers a star tackle or two.

The Iowa squad is practicing behind locked gates this week, and it is rumored that they are working up a surprise attack for the Michigan boys.

Coach Yost is giving special attention to the Wolverine line and to back kicking. The Trojans are working up a surprise attack for the Michigan boys.

Coach Wilce is giving the Ohio team a thorough going over. Workman has been shifted to quarterback, and the program for this week is straight football and hard work.

Heavyweights to Meet Monrovia on Thursday

In an endeavor to avenge the two successive defeats in past seasons which have been handed them by the Monrovia footballers, the heavyweight team of Glendale will trot out on Moysie field here Friday afternoon, determined to put over a win, if possible. The team has put in a hard week preparatory to this game, and expect to come out with the long end of the score.

Next Monday, November 5, the 116-pound team will play Los Angeles High at Los Angeles.

Pep Meetings Arranged at Glendale High

Pep meetings to arouse enthusiasm for the Junior-Senior debate and the football game with Monrovia Friday will be held tomorrow at the local high school. Miss Corry and Paul Cunningham, secretary of debating, are arranging the program for the debating rally. Ronald West will have charge of the football meeting. Several of the members of the team will speak and one of the candidates for yell leader will lead the yell.

Hutchins Death Due to Accident, Verdict

A verdict of "Accidental Death," without fixing the responsibility for the mishap, was returned by a coroner's jury this morning at the inquest over the body of Ralph Hutchins, 2232 Childs avenue, Los Angeles, who was killed in a motor accident Monday afternoon at the corner of Doran street and Glendale avenue.

Several witnesses were heard and it appeared that the accident was unavoidable under the circumstances. Hutchins, who was driving his own car, struck the left rear wheel of a car driven by Dr. Montague Cheeves of La Crescenta at the intersection. The surgeon's report showed that death resulted from a blow at the base of the skull, together with the loss of blood which resulted from Hutchins being thrown into the broken windshield of his car.

Music Club Supports Orpheus Concert Here
That the Glendale Music club is heartily supporting the concert to be given tomorrow night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by the Orpheus club of Los Angeles under the auspices of Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, was the announcement made last night by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones at the meeting of the oratorio section at the high school.

The Music club is proud that Glendale possesses groups of business men who bring such musical attractions to the city," says Mrs. Jones.

HACKENSCHMIDT WINS FROM POLK

Wrestling Sheik of Universal Lot Injured; Two K. O. Events on Card

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff

Hackenschmidt, local grappler, won his match last night with Joe Polk, filmland sheik, from the Universal lot. They appeared in the main event of the card furnished by Les Marston, matchmaker for the Glendale Athletic club.

Polk, however, proved conclusively that he is game. While working in a picture yesterday afternoon, he was painfully injured by a piece of iron pipe, which cut a deep gash in the left side of his face. But, rather than disappoint local enthusiasts, Hackenschmidt had appeared to see this man perform on the mat. He went into the match with a bandage on his face, which kept bothering him throughout.

After wrestling one hour and ten minutes, without either having secured a fall, Polk called for the services of a physician, and forfeited the match to the Glendale man, rather than take any further chances of infection with his wound.

The men were evenly matched and the struggle was fast. Hackenschmidt fastened several toe holds on Polk, but did not have the final punch necessary to make him strike the mat. Hack broke several arm locks which drew applause from the audience. A return match between these two, when Polk has recovered, would undoubtedly be a big attraction, and if the demand is great enough, this will probably be done.

Other Events
In addition to the main event, there were two sizzling preliminaries. George Williams, substituting for Jack Carr, took about thirty seconds to dispose of Battling Chico, of Lankershim. Evidently Chico had been out late the previous evening, as he appeared to need sleep. He took the count of nine in about ten seconds after the first gong rang and was counted out after another twenty seconds of fighting.

Jimmy Racer and Ted Rose, weighing in at 128 pounds, went at it hammer and tongs for two rounds and in the third Rose slipped over a right to the jaw and Jimmy took the count. Up until this time the fight had been even and brought the fans to their feet time and again. It was announced that these two men had been matched for a return fight one week from next Tuesday night. Racer complained of a headache last evening and said he was not at his best.

Battle to Draw
In the semi-windup, Cecil Taylor of Burbank and Freddie Klage of Pasadena battled four rounds to a draw. The verdict meeting with the approval of the crowd. This was really the best bout of the evening. Neither man scored a knock down, and the pace was fast. It is probable that these two men will be matched again in the near future. The show was run off in good time, and there were no delays between events. As long as the kind of clean sport is given the fans, Matchmaker Marston states he has been assured of real support.

ASSASSINS ESCAPE
LONDON, Oct. 31.—Former Bulgarian Minister Ghenaeff was assassinated at Sofia and M. Gomechoff, former Bulgarian minister to Germany, was wounded by a band of assassins, said a dispatch from Sofia today. The murderers escaped.

The afternoon collection will start at 5 o'clock, and will take up the mail from thirty-two boxes between Central avenue and Brand boulevard south of Lexington drive; between Broadway and Colorado street east as far as Verdugo road. This district will take in the entire business section of the city and everything immediately adjacent.

This new arrangement will give the city four collections daily, instead of two, as heretofore, and a check will be kept on the amount of mail collected during the first few weeks to determine whether or not the people of the city are taking advantage of the service, as the cost of it will form an important point in permitting the postal officials to determine whether it is to be maintained.

America May Relieve Hunger in Germany
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—If conditions in Germany this winter develop to the point of a famine, it is entirely possible that the United States government will render aid similar to that afforded Russia after the war, it has been announced officially at the White House.

The administration, it was said, looked with some favor upon the plan of western wheat growers to ship 50,000,000 bushels of wheat to Germany, payment to be guaranteed by the Berlin government.

Will Submit Filipino Pleas to President
MANILA, Oct. 31.—Pio P. Roxas, president of the Filipino house of representatives, will leave for the United States November 14 to represent the legislature in the fight for the independence of the Philippines. He will present to President Coolidge the arguments of the legislature in favor of independence.

Letter Carriers' Band to Hold Blow Out
The Letter Carriers' band, organized some months ago by Alvah Holcomb and a group of local postal employees with musical talent, will hold a "blow out" on Saturday night, November 10, at the K. of P. hall, corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard, when a de luxe program will be given.

"Her Honor, the Mayor," comedy so successfully staged recently by the Emerson School of Expression, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, will make a second bow to Glendadians at this time, reports Mr. Holcomb, with John Milton Hague, a local carrier of histrionic ability, in one of the chief roles.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson will sing, the band will play, and all in all it will be a big night, according to Mr. Holcomb and his melody makers. The proceeds from sale of tickets will go to swell the Letter Carriers' fund.

'Napoleon' Poses
As President In Arizona Court

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 31.—Napoleon, a harmless imitative, escaped from a nearby state asylum yesterday long enough to assume a role and create a novel courtroom scene.

Wearing a large hat graced by a waving white plume, the man advanced up the aisle through the enclosure for attorneys and, interrupting all proceedings, bowed to and introduced himself to Superior Judge M. T. Phelps as the president of South America.

The "president" was finally induced to follow courtroom attendants to the floor below, where he was held in the sheriff's office pending re-commitment.

be at the athletic field to look after their children, following the parade. Ample space has been provided and the entertainment features have been arranged to appeal to old and young alike.

Free Lunch on Bill

Doughnuts, apples and "Comalt" will be supplied free in large quantities. The latter is the popular new beverage put out by the S. W. Brown Company, Inc. In donating sufficient Comalt to supply the heavy demand following the parade, S. W. Rosington, president of the company, has made one of the major contributions to the success of the affair.

Two trucks will be necessary to transport the thousands of bottles required.

William A. Tanner of Tanner & Hall, local Buick distributors, has donated the use of a 1924 model touring car as the official machine heading the parade. William Hunter of the Glendale Paint & Paper company has donated the paint for the signs and banners, D. G. Cowlin the badges and signs, Ray Goode the sign canvas, and C. M. Burke is painting the signs.

The gridiron warriors of the 130-pound class of the Glendale Union high school journey to Monrovia tomorrow for a game at that place. Monrovia has been going strong this season and a hard struggle is expected. Plenty of confidence is evidenced in the local squad.

Bears are naturally cheerful and good-natured.

Two Weeks' Vacation
for China Salesman

Judge Harry W. Chase, sitting in Judge Lowe's court, yesterday afternoon sentenced Paul Talmadge, alias R. K. Wells, to serve fourteen days in the county jail on a misdemeanor charge.

Talmadge was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Posing as a representative of a Los Angeles decorating firm, he accepted a deposit of $1,000 from many Glendale women, promising to deliver china sets later. It was said these sets did not arrive at the scheduled time. As a result of a law passed by the legislature, any crime of this nature where the amount involved is less than $200, the charge is not a felony. Therefore sentence was pronounced in the local court.

Police officers took Talmadge to the county jail in Los Angeles today.

Downfall of German
Marks Revealed Here

A clear idea of the meteoric downfall of the German mark, now worth 23 4-5 cents in American money, may be obtained from a small package received this morning by the Harrower Laboratory, Inc., 920 East Broadway, from Berlin, containing seven 2,000,000 mark stamps as postage. "This 14,000,000 marks postage would once have amounted to nearly $3,500,000 in American money," says Dr. Henry H. Harrower, president of the laboratory. "Today it represents only a few cents, the mark having sunk to such depths that it is no longer on the market."

'Eye Kiss' Shows
Depth of Lover's
Feeling, Is Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—If the latest discovery of science is upheld the poets will score.

Dr. Russell E. Simpson, president of the California Optometrists' association, announced today that "the eyes do kiss."

"They are a bundle of nerves and more sensitive than the lips," he observed, "and in the eyes can be read the depth of feeling back of a kiss."

Dr. Simpson does not accord with the old adage that "Love is blind," but admits the possibility of its having astigmatic or myopic tendencies. For its greatest possibility, the eyes should be properly in focus for the "eye kiss," according to the head of the optometrists.

The sewer committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce is ready to start the campaign in favor of the sewer bond issue, according to W. E. Hewitt, who presided last night in the absence of President Jesse E. Smith. Mr. Hewitt declared that the sewer system is an absolute necessity from the point of view of modern sanitation, and he added that the present method of sewage disposal constitutes a distinct menace to the health of the community.

Benefit Ticket Sale

Chalmers D. Day, chairman of the fire benefit ticket committee, reported on the sale of tickets, stating that more than 400 tickets had already been sold. The directors of the Chamber of Commerce agreed to purchase two tickets to be placed at the disposal of Mrs. Johanna Edwards and Mrs. J. W. McGahan, to permit them to attend the performance if they so desired.

The board also appropriated $10 to be expended on the maintenance of the graves of the soldiers who fell and were buried overseas.

The Chamber of Commerce offices will be closed in honor of Armistice Day, which is to be observed on Monday, November 12.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—An indictment charging Harry B. Winters, well-known Hollywood cafe man with murder was requested yesterday by Deputy District Attorney W. J. Clark, who appeared before the county grand jury.

Winters, according to the police engaged in a quarrel with E. J. Howe of Oakland. Dynamite and Water
Halt Speedway Blaze

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Firing dynamite charges under the structure on both sides of the blaze and playing a stream of water on the flames, a large crew of firemen late yesterday succeeded in gaining control over a spectacular fire which destroyed more than an eighth of a mile of track on the west side of the Los Angeles speedway near Beverly Hills. For a time the blaze, which is said to have started from a grass fire, threatened destruction of the entire plant.

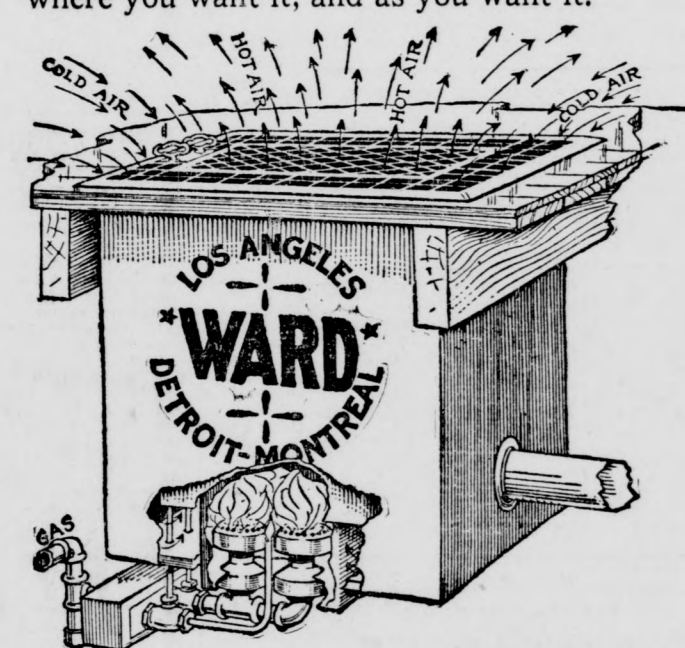

The fire was finally extinguished with water after damage estimated at $50,000 had been done, according to Cliff Durant, president of the Los Angeles speedway association, owners of the track. Durant declared the ruined part of the track would be repaired immediately and the race set for Thanksgiving go on as scheduled.

SLOGANITIS GERM GRIPS MONTROSE

Whole Families, Innoculated
by Publicity Fever,
Strive for Prize

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff
Montrose, that live little town just north of Glendale in the Verdugo hills, is suffering from an acute attack of sloganitis, brought on by exposure to publicity germs scattered by the Chamber of Commerce. Everybody has got it or is displaying the symptoms.

Since the publicity committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, started the thing it has spread until whole families are enjoying it.

Glendale's Example
Montrose wants a slogan. The publicity committee started a contest, citing Glendale's famous slogan—"The Fastest Growing City in America"—as a guiding example and offered $5 for one as good.

The town wag read that and pondered at great length. He also consulted a map. Now he is the proud papa of a rare gem of thought.

"That five bill is mine already," he told himself and here's the slogan he manufactured right out of his own head.

What He Doped Out
"Montrose—NEXT to the Fastest Growing City in America."

Take your time now, folks, it's all in the way you look at it.

If you become stricken with this highly contagious disease send the result to Theo. Belanger, Montrose. He's the chairman of the committee.

Glendale High Art Students to Compete

Student in the art class under Miss Plaw at the Glendale High school has been requested by the management of the Fourteenth National Orange Show, to be held at San Bernardino, February 15 to 25, to submit designs for a poster which is to be used in advertising the coming exposition.

The contest is open to all high school students of the state and first place carries with it a cash prize of $25. The three best local designs will be submitted in the state-wide contest.

High School Editors Hold Business Meet

Salesmanship Club Offers Opportunity To Good Go-Getters

By J. A. MALCOLM
Subscription Club Manager
There are three kinds of people in this world. The Wills, the Wonts and the Can'ts. The first accomplish everything they go after. The second oppose everything. The third fail in everything. The Glendale Evening News' big $10,500 salesmanship club has classified the above three. Those who have entered the campaign and are doing their best belong to the first class. There are a few of the second class represented. But the third is lost entirely as far as this campaign is concerned. For the Wills this campaign offers a golden opportunity that should not be overlooked and old man Opportunity is knocking at their door right now.

December 20 will see sixteen members of the Salesmanship club winners of the valuable prizes that are being offered, while many others will receive cash commissions on the subscriptions they turn in during the time the campaign is in force.

Do Not Hesitate
If you have been thinking the matter over do not hesitate any longer, but make up your mind today, right now, that you are going to enter and write, phone or call on the campaign manager of The Glendale Evening News office, where you will receive full details regarding the campaign.

This, the first week of the campaign, is designated as entry week, and all who are interested or wish to win one of the prizes will be welcomed by the campaign manager and his assistants at the campaign headquarters. Bear in mind that it does not cost you one cent now or later to enter the campaign, and everyone who enters and works is sure to be a winner of one of the prizes or will be paid a cash commission on every subscription they turn in.

The first announcement of the names of those entered in the campaign will be made shortly. Be sure that your name is on the list. The relative standing of the club members will not be printed for another week in order to give everyone an opportunity to get started.

Room for Workers
The campaign is rapidly getting under way, but there is still plenty of room for active workers to enter and win one of the best prizes that are being offered. If you are a live wire you will not overlook this chance to be associated in an undertaking that will mean tremendous profits to you.

A number have entered who have stated that they did not think they would stand any chance whatever of winning one of the big prizes, but they knew they would be paid for their time by the cash commissions that they would receive. However, that is the wrong view to take of the proposition for any worker can and will win one of the best prizes if you make up your mind that you are going into the campaign determined to win and then go after the subscriptions in a manner that will coincide with that determination.

BLACK CAT HAS TALE TO TELL!

How Cam Thom, Johnnie
Thorpe, Rip Jackson and Bill Reeves Acted

"Me-ow!" mourned the Halloween cat, "tr-ouch!" in sorrowful remembrance of innumerable tin cans tied to his tail in hallowed e'en gone by but not forgotten.

"And yet," he mused, "those were the happy days, after all. The kids sure raised Cain, but it was healthy outdoor stuff, even if it was sorta ruff on cats' tails. Got it all over this stuff the kids stage nowadays.

"Speaking of tails," said the Halloween cat, brightening, "maybe I don't remember the time a kid by the name of Cam Thom hitched a chain of sleigh-bells to my prehensile vertebrates and I went dashing down Brand boulevard (then only a cow path) to the tune of:

Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way—
Oh, what fun it is to ride in a one-hoss open sleigh!

"And speaking of tails, I've traveled some and met a lot of cats from other towns. They tell some funny tales. There's a cat down in St. Paul, Minn., tells a wild yarn about a kid named Johnnie Thorpe, who one Halloween night, with a gang of boys-will-be-boys, took apart a ton and a half sand wagon, carried it to the roof of a church and there put it together again. It took the owner and several members of the police department five days to get it down.

"And there's a cat out West Orange way, New Jersey, tells a similar tale about a kid named Rip Jackson—only in this case the gang got caught or one of their members squealed or something, anyway they had to take the wagon down again themselves.

"Then I know a cat up around Seattle, Wash., tells a funny tale about a kid named Bill Reeves. Full of Cain, if ever a kid was! Say, I know a cat named a black string across the sidewalk one Halloween night, about six inches from the ground—when who should come along but his Dad! Well, for the rest of that tale, 'Ask Dad, he knows!'

"And then there's a cat—say, this, it's good!—out in an Illinois berg called Rock Island. He never tied things on cats' tails, on Halloween, never went out moving gates or tick-tacking or any other kind of mischief-making, did this lad, but stayed properly at home, like a model young man, and read 'The Youth's Companion' and 'The Christian Herald.' Give you one guess who he was. No, you're wrong. He was Mayor Spencer Robinson, of Glendale."

Dr. Allison to Speak on Guatemala Tonight

Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, will have charge of the prayer and praise service at the new church at Harvard and Louise streets this evening. This will be the monthly missionary service and Dr. W. B. Allison of Eagle Rock will give the address of the evening. His subject will be "By Rail and Trail Over Mountain and Vale in Guatemala." The address will be illustrated by many views which have been prepared by Dr. Allison himself.

Dr. Allison has a missionary message which is different than any other and which glows with interesting personal facts from beginning to end. He and Mrs. Allison spent twenty years under the Presbyterian Foreign Missionary board in Guatemala. While on furlough Dr. Allison is teaching Spanish in Occidental college.

Pigeon Fanciers to Compete at Arcadia

The Arcadia annual exposition, which is to be held at the U. S. Army Balloon school, Ross Field, Arcadia, from November 27 to December 1, inclusive, is expected to bring out one of the largest displays of racing Homer pigeons ever assembled in Southern California. Pigeon fanciers of the Southland will hold their annual gathering during the exposition, and a New York expert will be on hand to judge the birds.

Chicken shows, dog shows, art exhibits and entertainment features are also being planned, and a popularity contest will be staged during the exposition.

Community Organization Has Long List of Local Accomplishments

Directors today received the annual report of Glendale Community Service and Recreation commission, covering the year to October 1, 1923. In the foreword it states that Community Service "is a medium for securing the combined community effort," and then goes on to elucidate the varied work in which it has become interested.

Music meant much during the year, singing at the Community Christmas tree, Easter chorus work, an inter-community program and meetings of song leaders being listed as accomplishments of the year.

In athletics the evening baseball games, play leaders' club, tennis tournaments and swimming events, not to mention much other minor effort, afforded recreation for hundreds of young people, it is pointed out.

Other Events Listed

Denver Family Plans Glendale Residence

Friends of H. S. McCormack, 125 West Broadway, writing from Denver, Colorado, say, "We are realizing these days how widely known Glendale has become. We never mention it but someone gets wildly enthusiastic and has either been there or heard of it."

Mr. McCormack says that these friends have already disposed of their property in Colorado, and as soon as their son can sell his ranch the entire family will move to Glendale as permanent residents.

Committee Discusses Variety Show Plans

The personnel of the committee is: Glenn Roberts, chairman; Dante La Franchi, senior representative; Dick Ryan, junior representative; Reid Stearnan, sophomore representative; Marjorie Nielson, freshman representative; Ethel Hume, Floyd Moyer, A. L. Ferguson, vice-principals, and Ronald West, student body president, are ex-officio members of the committee.

A new plan is being adopted this year, in that the class acts will be reviewed before the dates of the show and the best one chosen to represent the class on these evenings.

Mr. Jensen, who makes his headquarters at the Victor hotel in Glendale, has already secured a number of applications for membership and will organize the tent here during November, when the Pasadena Macabees will send over their degree team to assist in the initiatory work.

CLAIMS ROMANCE CAUSES DIVORCE

Love Is Great Illusion of Modern Woman Declares
Dr. Jasper J. Mayer

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

Romantic love is the great illusion of modern women and the greatest cause of divorce, Tuesday Afternoon club women were told yesterday by Dr. Jasper J. Mayer, president of the University of Psychological Research in Los Angeles.

Dr. Mayer spoke on the "Tendencies of the Modern American Women," tracing her evolution from Puritanical, conservative times up to the present day, ending with the conclusion that "the woman in industry is the one who will outwit man."

A startling statement during Dr. Mayer's address was "The chorus girl type is most popular with the American man. She appeals to his mercenary spirit. It was up to the modern girl to become a flapper and with rouge, lipstick and 'roll your own' she challenged the chorus girl and stenographer who won her lover."

Mothers' Responsibility

The responsibility of American mothers in influencing the futures of their children were emphasized by Dr. Mayer.

At the conclusion of his talk questions were invited from the club women and an informal discussion followed.

Vocal instrumental music by Henry Cantor, tenor, and Harry Nielsen, pianist, entertained following Dr. Mayer's address. Mr. Cantor's talent is well known to the club women and he received a hearty greeting. He sang, "God Touched the Rose," "Duna," "Parting" (Tosti), "For You Alone" and a selection from Rigolotto. Mr. Nielsen gave two fine piano numbers. These two artists are leaving Glendale shortly for an engagement in vaudeville.

Makes Announcement
Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, directed the short business hour opening the afternoon's program. She made announcements of interest to the club women and called upon Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the ways and means, who presented the treasurer with a check for $600.

The Tuesday Afternoon club contribution to the fire relief fund has been raised by a gift of $5 from one of the members. At the next meeting of the club, Tuesday, November 6, there will be a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock with Rex B. Goodell, internal revenue collector; Mrs. O. W. March, first vice president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, and Dean Irene Meyers of Occidental College, as honored guests and speakers.

In the afternoon Maude Fenlon Bollman, soprano, will give her song cycle, "A Song of Life."

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Menu Planning, No. 3

In our Monday and Tuesday talks this week I gave you the Daily Foundation Diet for each child. It consists of two parts, the Protective and the Energy foods. The Protective Foods include 1½ pints of milk (at least); 1 full cup of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables), part of them raw; 1 cup of fruit, part fresh if possible. The Energy foods include cereals (including whole grain breads); fats, in the form of butter or cream; egg yolks and nuts.

We showed you that if the child has a minimum of three glasses of milk a day, and one other relatively high protein food and whole wheat bread, you need not worry about the protein or the kind of protein in the daily diet. CARBOHYDRATES (starches and sugars, Energy foods):

Now, after you have furnished the Protective food basis, as I have explained to you, suppose you see that whole grain cereals, including bread, macaroni, spaghetti and potatoes, and some wholesome, simple desserts, including sweets such as honey, molasses and jellies and jams occasionally, are furnished your child for his Energy foods. He is going to need a lot of them. The amount we'll talk about later.

Let me repeat, be sure he gets the Protective food basis before he fills up on the starches and sugars.

FATS (Energy foods):
Butter and cream are the chief fats that should be supplied for children, on account of their growth vitamins as well as their energy value. Very little other free fats, aside from butter, should be given. Butter, up to a level tablespoonful for each meal, is sufficient for the older children; proportionately less for the younger children—not over one level tablespoonful a meal up to three years of age.

The combined fats as they are found in nuts, egg yolks, olives and, in lesser proportion, in other foods, will furnish the balance of the fat needs.

VITAMINS AND MINERAL ELEMENTS:
Some time ago we had several papers on the vitamins. Here we will just say that the vegetables, especially cabbage, tomatoes, spinach and other green-leaf vegetables; fruits, egg yolks, butter, milk and the whole grains are all high in the vitamins and mineral elements. You know their place in the menu.

WATER:
The amount of water needed depends upon many factors. Among them the amount of milk and other fluids, watery fruits and vegetables consumed, the season, exercise and age. We all need a liberal amount of water, and children do especially. From one to two glasses, depending upon the factors I have spoken of, should be taken regularly between meals. At meals but a small amount should be given.

IMPORTANT!

Readers of this column are very many and very interested. They write many inquiries which Dr. Peters is eager to have and very glad to answer when possible. But more and more they neglect to self-address envelopes for their reply.

Now, owing to the great number of inquiries received, we are sorry that it is no longer possible to make reply unless the simple rules of the column are observed. Hereafter if you expect a reply you must enclose a stamped envelope, fully addressed to yourself, with your inquiry. Otherwise your letter will have to be destroyed and the postage (if sent) will be given to charity.—The Editor.

My Dear Followers: When sending inquiries received, we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate your letters and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

FASHIONS FOR GIRLS AND JUNIORS

Paris says wool jersey for school-girl frocks this season, and although the models sent over may be duplicated in other fabrics, there is something about jersey that wins for its instant approval in this new field. It is serviceable, smart and inexpensive, in addition to other advantages. The first model pictured has the front slashed, underlaid and rolled with the collar. Turn-back cuffs finish the sleeves, while the skirt has an inserted pocket. Medium size requires 2½ yards 54-inch material.

A bright motif embroidered on the blouse of the second model stamps it as ultra-Parisian. The neck is finished with a deep collar that is pointed in front and rounded in back. The front of the dress is slashed in from the armhole edges and the lower slashed edges gathered. Self-material is used for the narrow string belt. Medium size requires 2 yards 54-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Girls' Dress No. 1827. Sizes, 6 to 17 years. Price, 30 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 1821. Sizes, 6 to 16 years. Price, 30 cents. Motif No. 12820. Transfer, blue or yellow, 25 cents.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have read several letters asking how to reduce. I can only give you my experience. I was about ten pounds overweight, not much, but I did not look pleasant. My father is a doctor. I tried eating less to no avail, and all the while my father looked on amused, a smile lurking near his lips.

"If you really want to reduce, work," that was his advice. I took it.

I eat candy between meals and anything I want, and yet I keep in trim. My advice is work, not hard, but work. For instance, sweep, dust, shake rugs, etc. Starving yourself won't turn the trick. It is no use trying.

WISE SAGE.

Your advice about work is all right, my dear, but your other remarks are not sound. Food produces flesh. I will admit that diet without understanding of calories often avails nothing. Also exercise avails nothing if it increases the appetite and more food is taken into the system.

People of correct weight need not flatter themselves that they work harder than their fatter sisters. Because that is not true, but they do things that we do not. They are very often active and more food is taken into the system.

With an understanding of the proper amount of calories in food, it is possible to eat candy daily, it is possible to eat candy between meals. Candy is rich in calories, however, and when candy is eaten should be made not to eat too much of other things. Of course some people get fat easier than others.

others and therefore some have to follow a more rigid diet. I presume you are fortunate and can keep in trim without a great deal of effort.

My answer sounds ungrateful. I do appreciate your contribution, however, but I must stick to my side of the argument, which I know from observation and experience to be true.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a bride of eight weeks and I dearly love my husband and I realize he loves me as much. I don't know whether it is a habit or not, but when I am riding with him or walking and some girls go past he watches and stares at them, which is very embarrassing to me. For several mornings I have stood at the gate talking to some girl friends who were going to work and I have been able to see him going down the street looking across at others.

He is very jealous of me and we never go out unless we are together. I think it shows poor do things of that kind. What do you think? Is there some way to break him, or would you just let it go?

A READER.
It is natural to notice other people on the street, but ill-mannered to stare at them. Perhaps your husband does not realize that he stares at other women. You might tell him in a good-natured way that you think he looks too long at people, but do not nag at him. If he loves you and is devoted to you the other matter is not of great importance. Do not watch every move he makes or try to spy on him. Perhaps you place too much importance on his observations and feel that he is in himself is scarcely conscious that he is looking at a woman.

Then you're wheezy;
Use a vacuum—
That is easy.

FACE TREATMENTS

Face treatments should be varied to suit the individual woman. One woman I know who is an expert in facial massage says that no two of her customers can ever be treated alike. Nervous women, for instance, have such dry skins that a fairly heavy type of massage cream must be used, and about twice the ordinary amount worked in. Very little astringent should be used. Women with oily complexions need very little cream but get the benefit of the massage, and a great deal of astringent is necessary for them.

Now let me describe a delightful face treatment which you cannot give to yourself. It is a high frequency cold cream massage. Hot clothes are first held over the skin in the usual fashion, then the massage puts the handle of the high frequency machine in your hand, first however, coating the skin thickly with cream. Then, while she holds her fingers against the skin, an assistant turns on the current.

You are not conscious of any electricity passing through your body, yet a constant stream is going through you, and from your face into the tips of the operator's fingers, and off through her. All you know is that your face begins to feel wonderfully fresh and stimulated, and that the warm color comes up to your cheeks as the current is turned on. The operator never takes her fingers from your skin until the end of the treatment, then she taps lightly all over the face, and with every tap comes the tiniest shock of the current. She removes her hands, and the current being broken, the handle of the machine is taken from your hands and the current switched off.

The treatment proceeds with the usual astringents and powderings. But because of the electricity this sort of massage is particularly good for lifting sagging muscles and cleaning the skin of impurities.

M. C. L.—Trim off the split ends of your hair several times a month. An easy method is to make a number of very loose braids. Pull these apart so they will be so loose that all ends will appear along the braids, showing the split ends. Now the hairs may be clipped easily. It is almost impossible to do this for yourself, however.

If your hair is brittle because of a dry scalp, massage a very little bit of olive oil into the scalp between the parts made by the braids. This does not mean to get any oil on the hair. Oil only benefits the scalp, which in turn, will take care of the hair.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

WHO'S WHO

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

PRINCE PHILIPPE, DUC D'ORLEANS

The man who could have been king of France today—had fate so ruled—has been seriously ill and his age makes his recovery doubtful. He is Prince Philippe Duc d'Orleans, great grandson of Louis Philippe. The latter was known as the "Citizen King" of France, and was a descendant of Louis XIII, founder of the present Bourbon dynasties.

Prince Philippe, one of the last of his line, has been playing a king. He has called himself "pretender" title will pass to his brother, Prince Ferdinand, Duc d'Montpensier, in event of Prince Philippe's death.

The father of the Duke, Comte de Paris, as the head of his house, was banished from France by the exclusion act of 1836. Prince Philippe was born three years later. The Comte de Paris died in England Sept. 8, 1894.

The prince has devoted time to soldiering, sailing, exploiting, science, art and even love making. This said that his close friend, Prince Leopold, of Belgium, recognized as the greatest of royal lovers, was the prince's tutor at the latter game.

His soldiering included offers of his services to the Czar of Russia and other monarchs. His first affair of the heart was with Princess Marguerite but their engagement was broken when the husband of a then prominent opera singer sued for damages and named the duke as co-respondent. The prince married Archduchess Marie Dorothea of Austria Nov. 5, 1896, but their marriage was marred early by the prince's romantic ways.

The prince offered his services to both France and England in the world war but the offers were refused. He then went to Monte Carlo and later to an estate in England.

in the University of Southern California and was, before accepting a federal appointment, a leading attorney of Los Angeles. She received her appointment September 27, 1921. While practicing law in Los Angeles she was the attorney in about 2,000 cases as the public defender of women.

DEATH LIST OF MOTHERS APPALING

According to the United States Children's Bureau, the United States stands third in having the highest mortality rate for mothers of the twenty more important countries. Belgium and Chile alone have higher maternity death rates. Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, chairman of child welfare in the General Federation, says that every club in the country should have a hand in stopping this appalling situation. The Shepard-Towner Act, passed in forty states, gives those states a

EAGLE ROCK PRESENT GIFT TO P. T. A. PRESIDENT

Mrs. J. C. Reiter Honored by Church Associates for Convention Work

Mrs. J. C. Reiter, president of the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association and active in civic, social and church work, has been singularly honored by the members of the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, who have presented her with an exceptionally fine wrist watch, as a token of their appreciation of her services in the recent national convention.

Mrs. Reiter was largely instrumental in having the convention in Los Angeles this year and the Women's Presbyterian chose this method of expressing their gratitude.

Professional Women Plan
A fine program of work has been outlined by the Business and professional women's club. The music section, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mott M. Marston will study music and the composers, having also in prospect a women's chorus; while the Spanish section, directed by Catherine Bessolo, will institute courses of study; and a dramatic section is planning some fine plays.

This club, though young in time of organization, already has some enviable records piled away among its archives and the members don't intend to rest on their laurels, either, according to Miss Bessolo.

Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer of 234 North Highlands avenue was recently hostess to a group of playwrights and others of the theatrical world, the guests being entertainers at the Mason Opera House, Los Angeles, where the Coburn Players were offering "So this is London." Mrs. Fischer and Mrs. Coburn have been friends for a number of years.

Seventy at Dinner Party
The home of Mrs. L. Sommer at 130 Paloma was the scene of a charming Sunday dinner party, when seventy members of the B'nai Anuna congregation of Los Angeles sat down to heavily laden tables. A total of $70 was contributed to the orphan children's fund.

Dr. Frances Morgan, Chicago artist and concert pianist, announces that after November 1 she will allow no more scholarships to be issued. It has been the privilege of a number of talented Eagle Rock students and teachers of piano to study with Dr. Morgan at her studio in Los Angeles.

Herold De Grosse of Los Angeles has been engaged to direct the local Presbyterian church choir, announces Rev. William Middlemass. Mr. De Grosse is reputed to possess a splendid voice and has sung before the Women's Twentieth Century club and elsewhere. He states that more voices are needed for the choir and urges candidates to come forward.

Halloween Host Offers Prize to Guests at Party

William Roslington, president of the S. W. Brown company, Inc., 403 West Los Feliz road, will stand host to the children of Glendale at tonight's great Halloween parade and entertainment, treating them all to his company's new drink, "Comalt," that is sweeping the country. And he doesn't stop there, but offers a prize of $5 cash for the best letter received within the week, by any child in the parade, telling what they think of "Comalt" and why.

The letters need not be long, but must go straight to the point, states Mr. Roslington.

HERMOSILLO DASH TESTS NASH CAR

Chuck Holes and Arroyos of Mexican Roads Fail to Halt Mining Man

Seven hundred miles of good roads out of a total mileage of 2,217 was all that Arch Miller and A. Homer Black were able to find on their recent dash to Hermosillo, Mexico, where they went to permit Mr. Black, who is mining engineer from Tonopah, Nevada, to close up a mining deal for a syndicate of which he is a member.

The time limit allowed Mr. Black to reach Hermosillo before the deal was either to be made or called off was three days, and Arch Miller, who used to be foreman for the Glendale Nash Sales, pushed his big Nash touring car over the roads between here and the Mexican city in time to land Black in Hermosillo with just three hours to spare.

The route followed went through San Diego, across the mountains into the Imperial valley, Yuma, Tucson, Ariz., Nogales, Sonora, and on down to Hermosillo, and most of the road was so narrow and steep that the front bumper and the tire rack on the rear would be bent up as the car uddered into the washes and climbed out again.

From Hermosillo the car was called on to carry Mr. Black to the mine, lying 100 miles southeast of the city, over more bad roads, and out of the twelve days that elapsed from the time Miller drove his car out of Glendale until he struck Brand boulevard again they were traveling ten days. The entire sum of their troubles was three punctures, and the car, which had already been driven 28,000 miles, never flattered for a minute on the run. It even withstood two collisions, when a steer, on one occasion, and a horse, on another, dazed by the lights at night, walked right into the car and were butted off the right-of-way, neither of them, apparently, being much the worse for the crash.

Donald C. Barbee, sales manager of the Nash Sales Company, Inc., 112 South Maryland street, local agents for the Nash, declares that Mitchell's dash over the bad roads of Mexico shows conclusively what the Nash can do under circumstances that test the merits of the car to the limit.

Smithsonian Experts To Probe Skulls' Age

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 31.—Denials that skulls discovered in the ground here recently are 25,000 years old and that they indicate a pre-historic civilization older than that of a Neanderthal man in Europe are made in telegrams received here from the Smithsonian Institution, which states that a full investigation is to be made regarding the statements of J. P. Harrington regarding their age, and that until such investigation is completed any estimate of age must be refused. Dr. Harrington, an investigator for the Smithsonian organization, dug the skulls from the ground several days ago. They were found at a lower level than that upon which have been found relics of an early Indian culture. From the shape of the forehead and jaws, Harrington calculated their age and announced that previous estimates of scientists regarding the first appearance of man upon the American continent were rendered incorrect by the finds.

Grain Shippers Sue Railroads for $750,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—Claiming that the northwestern railroads illegally overcharged grain shippers in moving the 1921 crop, suits in behalf of hundreds of thousands of western grain shippers to recover approximately $750,000 from these roads were started in the United States district court here yesterday. The cases on file in the district court arise out of the decision of the interstate commerce commission on October 20, 1921, when railroads were ordered to cut rates 17 1/2 per cent, in order to take effect on the date that the commission rendered its decision, but the complainants declared that the railroads disregarded the order and refused to cut rates until January 1, 1922, after the crop had reached its destination.

SUNLAND PHONE COMPANY INCREASES STOCK

Reorganization Will Include
Improvement of Entire Sunland System

Complete re-organization of the Sunland Telephone company, with an increase to $50,000 in the capital stock, was authorized at a meeting of the stockholders of the company.

According to plans of the company, improvements already started will be completed as soon as possible. These include a new trunk line to Los Angeles, reduction of the number of telephones on party lines to a maximum of four, a modern switchboard in the new building being built in Tujunga for the telephone company, and other features that will enable the company to maintain a first-class service.

Construction work has progressed to the point where the new board and lines may be cut in soon after November 1.

New certificates will be issued by the company to present stockholders to cover their investments. Announcement has been made that the twenty-acre fruit ranch belonging to S. D. Percey at Sunland is to be subdivided and sold. Two Los Angeles men, W. J. Brownlee and C. J. Hamil, are to be selling agents for the property.

A. Adams, Jr., of the Sunland Ripe Olive cannery, has been in the San Joaquin valley, buying olives for next season's pack. The cannery furnishes employment for nearly fifty people during the canning season.

TUJUNGA TUJUNGA MEN TO BUILD ICE PLANT

Fifteen Tons Daily Output to Be Increased as Demand for Product Grows

Tujunga will enter the industrial field next summer with an ice manufacturing plant, if present plans of Jenkins & Green are carried out, as there seems every evidence that they will be.

A site on Greeley avenue, between Sunset boulevard and Fischer street has been purchased by Jenkins & Green for the plant. Up-to-date machinery will be contracted for immediately, according to the announcement.

This machinery will have a capacity of fifteen tons daily and can be increased to fifty tons if necessary. Everything will be built in such a way as to allow expansion as it is expected that the home manufacture of ice with an attendant saving to the consumer will prove to be popular. Truckage and shrinkage, two items of considerable expense, when ice has to be hauled from the nearest railroad point as at present, would be eliminated to an appreciable degree by manufacturing the valley supply in Tujunga.

Earl C. Brunner, proprietor of Brunner's Jewelry store on Sunset boulevard, has announced that property to H. B. Liggett has been reported. The property will be the site of a hotel, according to the report. It is located in the block north of Monte Vista Lodge and has a water well and many large oak trees.

he will devote all his time to the Tujunga store in future instead of attending to outside interests as heretofore.

A large stock of Christmas merchandise has already been received in anticipation of the holidays.

Will Build New Home

Judson A. Jenkins, of Jenkins & Green, who propose to establish an ice manufacturing plant in Tujunga, has let the contract for a new home on West Manzanita drive. Mr. Jenkins recently sold his Monte Vista boulevard home. Jeffries & Jeffries are the builders.

J. A. Dubbs, an oil man and inventor of the Dubbs refining process used in making gasoline, has let the contract to R. J. Smith for a home at Manzanita and Cedar. Construction will be of stone in Mission style.

The Mission grocery, recently purchased by J. S. Smith of Inglewood, is to be remodeled and restocked.

School Growth Shown

A check of school enrollment figures shows a steady increase since opening day. When the cornerstone was laid for the second unit of the new building a few days ago the trustees announced that 325 pupils were enrolled. This number has since increased to over 350.

Records show that less than four years ago there were but 35 enrolled in the Tujunga school. The trustees are seriously considering the necessity of adding another teacher to the staff. One additional teacher has already been appointed since the opening day.

Captain James Robbins has written to Tujunga friends from the hospital at Sawtelle, where he is recovering from an operation, expressing his appreciation of the efforts of his friends and neighbors in his behalf while he is incapacitated. Friends recently gave a benefit banquet for funds to pay off a mortgage on Captain Robbins' home.

Halloween is known in the north of England as Nutcracker Night.

General State Fund Empty, Says Official

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—State Controller Ray L. Riley has addressed a letter to Governor Richardson telling the governor that the general fund of the state is exhausted and that bills amounting to more than $900,000 cannot be met until money is borrowed to replenish the state treasury.

Among claims which the state controller said are held up because of lack of funds is a bill from the University of California for $250,000, claims for $610,000 for reclamation work and another for $35,000 vocational rehabilitation. Riley's letter to the governor follows:

"I desire to call your attention to the condition of the general fund of the state of California. This fund is exhausted and we have requests for transfers approximately for $900,000 that should be made today or as soon as practicable.

"You will also note that, beginning on November 1, it will be necessary to either withhold payment of claims drawn against the general fund or reject any application for claims."

Sennet Studios Will Start New Companies

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Despite the putting into effect of a ten weeks' shutdown by the Famous Players-Lasky corporation of their Hollywood studio and the one on Long Island, Mack Sennet, one of the important independent film producers, is out with a statement that instead of closing his studio here additional companies would be added to those already at work.

Inheritance Taxes Have Come to Stay

Originally imposed to defray the cost of war, Inheritance Taxes are now permanent.

The earliest Inheritance Tax on record was established in Egypt, about 700 B. C. In the United States, there were no Inheritance Taxes until after the outbreak of the Civil War.

Since 1914 and the World War new Inheritance Taxes have been created and general increases made in established rates. Billions must now be raised by taxation to undo the waste of that horrible siege.

"It is wise to calculate the inevitable drain of these taxes on your estate and provide sufficient life insurance to keep your estate intact. Life Insurance is the only unshrinkable security with which to pay Inheritance Taxes.

Let us, without cost or obligation, assist you to compute the amount of these taxes on your estate, and outline a schedule of protection adequate to your needs.

TODAY—Lloyd George's Stock Boosted; British Labor Quits Britain.

By F. A. WRAY
For International News Service

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Lloyd George's absence from England has made rumors regarding his political future increasingly prevalent. The latest story is that he is to fight his way back to the Premiership as the leader of a "centre party," with Winston Churchill and Lord Birkenhead as his two chief lieutenants.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the ex-premier's stock has been enhanced enormously during his visit to the United States and Canada. The repudiation of his wonderful reception has largely altered the perspective of his fellow-countrymen toward him, and he will return to England with a prestige hardly less than he enjoyed in 1918.

If he has no powerful party of his own he will return strong enough to upset any other party. Consequently the Cave of Adullam never had anything on Lloyd George as he stands now. There is not a single "out" who is not eager to serve under his banner, and no other time could be more favorable for any enterprise he may contemplate.

Premier Baldwin's administration is admittedly the weakest that has existed in Britain within living history. Believing in Protection, it is afraid either to assent to the demands of the Dominion Premiers for imperial preference or to risk a general election on the question of tariffs. Ineffective on the grave issue of unemployment, devoid of any settled foreign policy, the government looks like the innocent lamb at the mercy of the Lloyd George wolf.

Meanwhile the little Welshman's own organization, known as the National Liberals, says very little. But under the surface a feverish activity prevails, and some of the keenest political brains in England are working their hardest on Lloyd George propaganda. The leaders ask for no confession of political faith from their adherents. All they demand is implicit faith in Lloyd George.

Dictatorships in Europe are common these days. Men who—compared to Lloyd George in intellect, knowledge and strategy—are like pygmies to a giant, have carried them off. The best political brain in Europe might have no trouble in bringing about a similar state of affairs in Britain.

Parties in England are loosely bound. One word from the great chief might bring extraordinary accessions to his standard—especially if his chances of success looked good.

One of the most disquieting features of the British unemployment situation is the continual and increasing migration of skilled mechanics from this country. The best type of men who have made a world-wide reputation for British manufactured goods are rapidly leaving England, and the biggest employers look with dismay at the time when orders again flow in.

During the last two years of bad times English and Scotch mechanics have emigrated to the United States and Canada in ever-increasing numbers, where their services have been eagerly sought at increased pay.

It is little wonder that the big employers and the government are alarmed.

The production of George Bernard Shaw's "Methusalem" in Birmingham has rendered the intellectual section of London's playgoers indignant in the extreme. "Why," it is asked, "should one of the few serious modern productions be played first in New York and then in the provincial city of Birmingham before it is seen in London? Are there not more intellectual playgoers in London than in any other city in the world?"

The answer of the managers in London is that intellectual drama does not pay. They are met in turn with the retort that they lack enterprise. Their reply is to show their books containing the receipts of Shaw's and other modern intellectual productions in London during recent years.

From the commercial viewpoint the managers are right. Few productions have made money in London of late years unless they have been either of the intimate revue or the spectacular order like "Hassan." The one little theatre in London that plays Shakespeare regularly the whole year round—the "Old Victoria"—is privately but heavily subsidized.

The outcome seems to be that London is behind both New York and the English provincial cities in appreciating any theatrical productions requiring mental concentration.

SLACKER 'SORRY,' SAYS MOTHER

Bergdoll, In Exile, Homesick For America

Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, snapped after her return from Germany

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, convicted slacker, is "sorry" he was a bad boy and is homesick for the United States, according to his mother, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, who has just returned from visiting him in his German residence. Mrs. Bergdoll denied her identity when first found by reporters in New York, but later talked about Grover.

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

BEAUTY
She sits on the back of the observation car . . .

The road runs close by the water's edge.
Where the slumberous mountains are mirrored.

A mountain stream, white as her neck.
From the sky descending, ledge to ledge.

Makes a cool sound.
The slopes of the mountains are wooded green.

Where the sunset casts purple shadows.
At the end of the valley
The sunlight flashes on a snow-capped peak.

Presiding, like a hoary deity.
With a bit of golden cloud for a halo . . .

She sits on the back of the observation car.
Her head buried deep in the pages of a magazine.
The title of which is "Beauty."

—Goblin.

Comes in the morning mail a note from our long-time friend John Philip Sousa inclosing a clipping which tells of a young man rescuing a young lady from the sad sea waves and going on to state that the young woman married the hero next day.

"And," concludes John Philip, "that's a heck of a way to repay a man for saving one's life."

Judging by the music we hear around our block of apartment houses along toward midnight, somebody has put a lot of harm in harmony.

Europe is laboring under a heavy handicap in that she must pay up for her last war before she can have another.

A New York headline says: "Woman Is Arrested for Keeping Still." There are a lot of them who couldn't be arrested for that.

And speaking of John Philip and other noted bandmasters and orchestra conductors, we have often wondered if these men wear their medals on their pajamas when they retire for the night. We expect no answer.

It is hardly a laudable ambition, but it does sometimes seem that it would be pleasant to have money enough to be a tax dodger.

A psychoanalyst says slow thinkers live the longest. If that is true some congressmen ought to live forever.

Paul Specht, the orchestra leader, who has just returned from an engagement in the London music halls and cafes told of his hit, "Yes We Have No Bananas," to English audiences. One night, when he was directing his orchestra at the New Corner House in Piccadilly, a young Englishman sauntered over to his stand and said:

"I beg your pardon, sir, but will you kindly render that new Yankee composition entitled, 'There Seems to be an Insufficiency of Bananas in the U. S. A.'?"

A good many states in Europe seem to be hesitating between being ruled by crowned heads or boneheads.

Lloyd George is coming over but not to make a lecture tour. He isn't an Englishman, you know. Just a Welshman.

When a fellow wears that anxious, hunted expression he is registering wool.

Dempsey, like everybody else, has to fight for his money, but the difference is that Dempsey knows he is going to get it before he starts fighting.

POEMS That LIVE

IN A LONDON SQUARE
Put forth thy leaf, thou lofty plane,
East wind and frost are safely gone;

With zephyr mild and balmy rain
The summer comes serenely on;
Earth, air, and sun and skies combine
To promise all that's kind and fair;

But thou, O human heart of mine,
Be still, contain thyself and bear.
December days were brief and chill,
The winds of March were wild and drear.

And, nearing the receding still,
Spring never would, we thought, be here.
The leaves that burst, the suns that shine,
Had, not the less, their certain date;

And thou, O human heart of mine,
Be still, refrain thyself, and wait.
—Arthur Hugh Clough.

MY GARDEN
A garden is a lovable thing, God wot!
Rose plot, Fringed pool,
Fern'd grove—
The veriest school
Of peace; and yet the fool
Contends that God is not—
Not God! in gardens! when the eve is cool?

Nay, but I have a sign:
'Tis very sure God walks in mine.
—Thomas Edward Brown.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S THREE SHOTS
The Woozie Wolf thrust his head in the den of the Fuzzy Fox and called:

"Come on out!" barked the Fox, who was hungry and cross.

"I'll show you," answered the Wolf, and when the Fox came forth the Woozie Wolf led him down the path through the woods.

"Where are we going?" the Fox wanted to know, but he soon found out, for the Wolf led him to the den of the Bob Cat.

"Now we are all three together," snarled the Wolf, "I'll tell you what we are going to do."

"I hope we are going to eat," howled the Bob Cat. "I'm very hungry, I am!"

"So am I," grumbled the Fox. "And I, also," mumbled the Wolf. "But if you listen to me we shall all soon be nibbling Uncle Wiggily's ears!"

"Ah! That sounds fine!" howled the Bob Cat and Fox. "Tell us about it."

So the Wolf told the other bad chap like this:

"You know," he said, "every day of late, Uncle Wiggily goes out of his hollow stump bungalow with a bag of clubs on his back."

"Do you think he wants to hit us with the clubs?" asked the Fox.

"Oh, no," answered the Wolf. "With his clubs Uncle Wiggily goes to the field and he takes shots at a little white ball. It is called the game of go-loo-off."

"Oh, I know about that game—but it is called go-loo-off," said the Bob Cat.

"You are wrong!" snickered the Fox. "The game is called go-loo-off, and it is something like croquet."

"Well, no matter what the game is called," spoke the Wolf. "Uncle Wiggily plays it, hitting a little white ball with clubs. Now what we want to do is to creep softly up behind him when he is watching the ball. We can easily catch him and nibble his ears."

"Come on!" howled the Bob Cat. "I am getting hungrier than ever."

So the three bad chaps—the Fuzzy Fox, the Woozie Wolf and the Bob Cat—went out to catch the bunny rabbit gentleman.

As he often did, a little later Uncle Wiggily started out from his hollow stump bungalow to play his game of golf. He took with him his clubs and his little white ball.

Uncle Wiggily reached a green, grassy place in a field from where he was to knock the little white ball so far as never was—he hoped. Mr. Longears made a little hill of sand and put the white ball on top of it. Then he took a club with a hard, wooden head, the rabbit gentleman did, and he got ready to hit the ball with all his might.

But, all this while the three bad chaps had been creeping softly up behind Uncle Wiggily, and, just as he was ready to let drive at the golf ball, the Wolf gave a howl and said:

"One moment, Uncle Wiggily. I wish to nibble your ears!"

The rabbit gentleman gave such a jump that he nearly lost the twinkle of the end of his nose.

"Oh, you are going to nibble my ears, are you?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Well, before you do that, would you please let me have three shots at my golf ball? I want to see how far I can knock it before you nibble me."

"That is fair enough," spoke the Fox. "Let him have three shots, Mr. Wolf."

"All right," agreed the Wolf. "But I'll stand close beside him to see that he doesn't run away."

Uncle Wiggily raised the heavy headed driver club in the air. He seemed to bring it down to hit the golf ball, but a funny thing happened. He hit the Wolf's nose instead. Right on the Wolf's nose Uncle Wiggily hit him.

"Oh, wow!" softly howled the Wolf, and he curled over backward and went to sleep.

"One shot and one down," said Uncle Wiggily, gently.

"Hum! This is rather funny," said the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily must be playing tricks. I'll stand close beside him and watch what he does next."

Once more the bunny rabbit gentleman raised the heavy club. He seemed to bring it down to hit the golf ball, but, instead, the club hit the Fox. Right on the end of his soft and tender nose it hit him.

"Oh, goozie!" softly howled the Fox. Then he curled over backward and went to sleep.

"Two shots and two down!" said Uncle Wiggily, gently.

"Hum! This is very queer," snarled the Bob Cat. "Uncle Wiggily must be playing tricks. I'll stand close beside him and watch."

Once more Uncle Wiggily swung at the ball, but, instead of hitting it, the heavy club banged the Bob Cat on her nose, ker-bunko!

"Oh, ga-zinka!" softly cried the Bob Cat. Then he curled over backward and went to sleep.

"Three shots and three down!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Pretty good, I call that!" Then he cried "Fore!" and began playing "go-loo-off," as the Wolf called it.

The three bad chaps slept for a long time, and when they awakened they had dreadful headaches and Uncle Wiggily was too far away for them to nibble his ears. So it all happened for the best, and if the feather duster doesn't tickle the mud turtle's tail and make him turn a somersault, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the chestnuts.

Gypsum Workers Kill Lots of Sidewinders

GERLACH, Nev., Oct. 31.—Several hundred rattlesnakes of the side-winder variety have been killed at a new gypsum camp established within five miles of Gerlach, according to Constable James Kennedy.

The side-winders do not coil before striking and give no rattle as a warning. They strike sideways from which habit they derive their name. They are small but very venomous, and the immunity of the workers from snake bites is thought to be largely due to the protection of thick boots.

NEED COTTON PICKERS

HANFORD, Oct. 31.—Scarcity of help is impeding the harvesting of 1500 acres of cotton in Kings county. Growers are making efforts to secure more pickers with payment on the basis of one and one-half cents per pound.

Open Hearing On Old Patent Litigation

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31.—Taking of testimony in the suit involving patent rights filed several years ago by the Universal Oil Products company against the Standard Oil company, of Indiana, was started here last week by Holmes Hall, special master of chancery.

Hall was appointed by Federal Judge A. S. Van Valkenburgh to take depositions in the suit which has been through federal courts extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts.

"The French Doll" opens at the Glendale theatre tonight, with piquant Mae Murray in the stellar role. In excellence of photography this picture excels, revealing the star in some of the most charming postures; and in story appeal the present offering is superior even to "Peacock Alley."

This story tells of a joyous French maiden who is brought to this country by her unscrupulous parents to aid in disposing of false antique furniture, and who falls in love with a wealthy American. Supporting Miss Murray in this colorful picture is a cast of capable players.

"The French Doll" is produced by Robert Z. Leonard for Tiffany Productions and distributed through Metro. It establishes through the star as one of the most "Frenchy" of American actresses.

THE GATEWAY

"Second Fiddle," a Hodkinson picture offering Glenn Hunter and Mary Astor in a strong drama of thrills and heart appeal shows at the Gateway theatre today. It deals with that age-old problem, the eternal triangle.

The story opens with the home-coming of Herbert Bradley, who has been away to college. Herbert is the idol of the family and lords it over Jim, his brother. Polly Crawford, however, sees Jim's real worth, and there ensues a strong clash between the brothers for the affections of this girl.

In the end, after a number of misunderstandings, Polly and Jim are brought together in one of the sweetest sequences ever filmed. "Second Fiddle," as all Hodkinson pictures, answers the demand for clean films.

LA CRESCENTA SERVICE LEAGUE TO RAISE FUNDS

Women's Organization Begins Campaign to Secure Money for Church

The Woman's Service League met at the home of Mrs. Gavin Telfer with twenty answering the roll call.

The ladies have completed the patchwork quilts, which had been ordered by a resident of La Canada and the new project to raise funds is that of selling non-alcoholic flavoring extracts to the housewives of the valley, so anyone needing extracts is requested to remember the Woman's Service League and order new supplies from them.

A large church dinner is being planned and will take place in the new Community church assembly rooms some time after the dedication, which is expected to take place during the first half of November. During Mrs. Stines' absence Mrs. Findlay is taking charge of the affairs of the league.

$1000 Fund Subscribed

The $1000 fund pledged by the ladies of the church has been over-subscribed and they are steadily working ahead to raise a second $1000.

The missionary society, of which Miss G. Bickel is president, meets with the Service League and the ladies of this society are sending a large cash gift to Sonia, India, to the missionary school there, which is in charge of Rev. A. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown of this community.

Dr. Keko is offering the use of the church rooms to any organization of the rally to be used for legitimate purposes only.

Fire Chief Young arrested A. Crowell for burning rubbish in the evening without a permit. Mr. Crowell was brought before Judge Powell of Sherman who, on account of Mr. Crowell's years, was most lenient.

Mr. Young is being so strict because many people are getting careless in the matter of burning rubbish. From now on all will be arrested who burn after hours, or without a permit.

Patient Recovers

Harold Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brown of Piedmont street, is recovering quite nicely from his accident, when a car ran over his foot tearing the ligaments very badly.

Dr. Wooley is erecting a large real estate office on the corner of Montrose and Ocean View avenues.

The Woman's Guild of St. Luke's of the Mountains Episcopal church will meet at the La Crescenta hotel on Thursday of this week. Miss Drennan will be hostess for the afternoon.

It is expected Dr. Renison of Eagle Rock will be present, and all members of the Episcopal faith, others who may care to work with the Guild, are cordially invited to attend the meeting on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Oil stations are springing up on the La Crescenta boulevard corners like mushrooms, one going in on Pennsylvania and Michigan and another on the corner of Ocean View and Michigan avenues.

COMMENT That's All

This Is Halloween
Official Newspaper
About Child Labor
Coiffures, Dollars, Women
By Gil A. Cowan

Watch out for the fireworks, folks. This is Halloween. And the Kiwanis club has taken upon itself to direct the activities of the youth of this city in some of the energy which is usually mispent.

As a Halloween prank of our own, we will have to blame everything that occurs tonight on Halloween, eh? Or if nothing happens we will have to credit it to Halloween, eh? Perhaps, perhaps. Not so.

Boys have been boys, will be boys, and are boys tonight and every Halloween night. Seldom do they do anything wrong, but what the Kiwanis club members desire to impress on the youth is the one fact:

You can have just as good time in harmless fun as you can in destroying property.

If the boys will remember that, and their parents should tell them, all will be well tomorrow morning.

The Glendale Evening News is the official newspaper of the city of Glendale.

The Glendale Evening News is in the midst of the greatest era of prosperity it has ever enjoyed. It is closing its books this month with a new record, a larger volume of business, a greater circulation, and capacity production of printing and publishing.

No wonder this paper is planning for the future, installing more machinery, expanding the present quarters into a two-story building. It must come, the business is to be properly cared for.

And it will be! The Glendale Evening News has grown with Glendale. It is an institution which reflects the progress and prosperity of the community. That's all.

Propagandists would have us believe that the age of big business steals children away from school and buries them in the factories. That is done handed out by political educators. And they went so far as to make one city a "horrible example." That city was Waterbury, Conn.

The storm broke when it was announced that in 1922 child labor had increased 800 per cent in the watch town. People were furious. The investigation which followed revealed an interesting fact. The Waterbury Clock company alone was responsible. This is how it all happened, according to the Chicago Scientific Monitor, which is controlled neither by big business, the schools, or other interests which might be biased in the matter:

"The company, finding that a comparatively large number of boys and girls were so circumstanced that they could not afford to continue their schooling after they reached the age of fourteen years, decided to help them out by arranging half time positions to enable them to continue their studies until they graduated. And this estimable act gave rise to the myth which the official figures of the Department of Labor apparently substantiated."

Some light lines we copy: If Europe ever does get on its feet, several million pessimists will be tremendously disappointed.—Chico Record.

The new coiffures for the girls are very fine, but the old man asks how much money he will have to "coiffe up" for them.—Vallejo Times-Herald.

Statisticians state that the dollar is worth just half of what it was a few years ago. That might be, but the good, old, round cartwheel looks just as good as it ever did.—Colusa Sun.

Who would have guessed there were so many women in the army that fought the World War? The San Francisco papers have been treating us to some illuminating and pleasing bits, showing considerable feminine pulchritude marching along with the American Legion. However, as long as the "veterans" are on the sunny side of 30 or 40 one may expect the girls to be marching along beside them. The women in "this man's army" when it was overseas, why should they now?—Stockton Record.

Luther Burbank Gives World More Blessings

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 31.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard, announced today that his "golden jubilee" year of "improving on nature" would be one of the most fruitful in the production of new fruits, flowers, vegetables and cereals he has ever experienced.

He has succeeded in enlarging the kernels and adding new rows of kernels to a prize variety of corn through one of his thousands of experiments. Two new varieties of quinces said to surpass anything previously produced in that line of fruit have been perfected during the year.

In the flower kingdom two new types of gladioli are exciting the admiration of visitors to his experimental gardens.

BURBANK

ROTARIANS WILL ENTERTAIN WIVES

Sunset Canyon Country Club
Chosen for Next Regular Meeting and Dinner

Rotary Ann's will be entertained by Rotarians of Burbank next Tuesday night at a regular meeting and dinner in the Sunset Canyon Country Club, it was planned at the meeting of the organization yesterday noon.

President J. C. Crawford of the club, who also is mayor, Union Pacific representative, etc., called attention to the fact that his wife wanted to know how the Rotary club worked. Several new members will be initiated for the edification of the Rotary Ann's.

In the absence of a regular speaker yesterday noon the Rotarians themselves did the talking, and won high praise from Will Forker of the Los Angeles club and manager of the Moreland truck factory, who was present. He introduced Charles Farnsworth of Sacramento and Jack Phillips of Fresno, who represent his concern.

David Roth, famous memory expert, also was present and enjoyed the privilege of NOT speaking, although he was invited to do so at some later meeting.

New Social Secretaries of Glendale, well known in social and club circles, has been appointed social secretary at Sunset Canyon Country Club. Quite a number of Halloween events are being staged this week.

The club's ballroom is beautifully decorated in gold and brown streamers and the dinner list for tonight already has more than occupied all available reservations, it is said.

With a miniature lake and the golf greens in great shape, the club's force of workmen are now turning their attention to the improvement of the drives in Sunset canyon.

Big Rail Business
With an average of twenty-five freight cars a day unloading in Burbank, and another ten tons a day coming to this city in smaller shipments, Burbank can be said to be headed for an increase in railroad facilities, according to M. S. McIntosh, Southern Pacific agent.

The daily average of passenger trains passing through this city is thirty, according to Mr. McIntosh, which is more than some cities twenty times larger than Burbank. Besides the regular trains, there are always extras, averaging five a day, bearing passengers to conventions and elsewhere, ten extra trains being run through en route to the recent American Legion convention at San Francisco.

The freight cars bring into Burbank such commodities as lumber, cement, gasoline, automobiles and farm machinery, taking out china, canned goods, soap, chemicals, food products and automobile trucks.

Women Clear $1,166.90
The following report is made by the Women's club, following the recent Fall Festival: Total cleared above expenses, $1,166.90, made up of the following: Cedar chest, $329; $500 at the door; program advertising, $325; cafeteria, $71; groceries, $29, and art section, $16, from which items expenses were deducted.

The members of the club are very gratified over the splendid financial success the affair turned out to be. The money will go toward the clubhouse fund.

H. B. Wolfe is in receipt of a letter, accompanied by the following statement, from the postal authorities: "Damaged by fire and dynamite in holdup of Ashland-Gerber Train No. 13, at Siskiyou, Ore., October 11, 1923." The envelope and letter bear the marks of the severe strain of their exciting trip en route to Mr. Wolfe.

Stelos Needle Shown At Webb Store Here

The Stelos Needle company, which has opened offices in the Monarch building, is giving a free demonstration of the usefulness of its needle at the H. S. Webb company store, corner of Wilson and Brand boulevard, Saturday afternoon in the hosiery department.

The Stelos needle is a clever invention, particularly useful to the housewife in darning or mending silk hose in a manner that is barely detectable to ordinary observation.

The Stelos is the product of a resident of Washington, D. C. Glendale is the first city in which it is to be demonstrated or sold. All housewives and others interested in this device are extended a cordial invitation to attend the opening demonstration Saturday afternoon at Webb's store.

EAGLE ROCK

PLAN FOR SCENIC MOUNTAIN DRIVE

Chamber of Commerce Refers Project for New Road
to Street Committee

A scenic drive along the summit of Eagle Mountain, long a vision of enterprising residents of this community, has ceased to be an idle dream and bids fair to stand among the achievements Eagle Rock will accomplish within the next year or so.

Following a lengthy discussion of the matter by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the project has been referred to the street committee and is now being fully investigated from the angles of practicality and cost.

"Such a drive would be not only an object of scenic beauty but would be a marked fire protection," says C. W. Young, chairman of this committee. "The recent fire has showed us the difficulty of putting fire-fighters on the scene under the present conditions. We need roads up among the hills, and the project now under consideration is a decided move in the right direction."

"The beauty of a community in Southern California, moreover, lies in its foothills, as Hollywood, Glendale, Pasadena and other cities have demonstrated. We have at our very doors a beautiful undeveloped country that, could it be served with adequate roads, would cause Eagle Rock at once to boom."

Transportation Report

"While figures on the recent transportation check have not as yet been completed," says Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, "it can be said that at Avenue 45, in one day, ninety-two cars were checked going into Los Angeles, carrying 1,687 passengers, while eighty-six cars were checked coming from Los Angeles, carrying 1,829 passengers—a total of 3,516. There were forty cars turned back, carrying 158 passengers in and 379 out. A large percentage of those coming out were transferred to Eagle Rock cars and carried into Eagle Rock. The average load on incoming cars was 18 1-3 and on outgoing cars 21 1/4."

"Inbound cars carried 731 passengers between 6:15 and 8:24 o'clock at night, or nearly half the load taken to town. From 4:35 to 6:37 o'clock fifteen cars carried 680 passengers, an average of forty-seven per car, or one less than seating capacity during this time."

"The worst breach of discipline was when the Avenue 45 car dropped eleven passengers, who, after waiting three minutes, attempted to board an Eagle Rock car, only to have the motorist pull away, leaving behind an old woman too feeble to mount the platform rapidly enough."

A further report will be made later, Mr. Montgomery states.

Sshhh! Spooks!!
The largest crowd ever in attendance at a local dance is anticipated at the Chevrolet agency on Colorado boulevard on Halloween night, October 31, with the Improvement association as host.

Mr. and Mrs. Spook and all the little Spooks will be there, with Old Dame Witch and her little Sandwiches, and Old Man Jinks himself. Oh, it is going to be a very merry party, and lively spook music will be dispensed by a popular Los Angeles orchestra. In fact, every unearthly plan to make this affair one long to be remembered in local annals has been considered by the committee in charge, numbering, among others, Mrs. J. C. Reiter, Mrs. Anne Harrison, Miss Eva Richardson and F. W. Link.

Costume judges will award many charming prizes to pretty girls, clever dancers, superior make-up artists and others, the following business houses having donated articles for this purpose: Brainard & White's Gift Shop, System Paint and Building Arcade, Eagle Rock Hardware company, Eagle Rock Dry Goods store, Eagle Rock Drug store, Eagle Rock Music store, Killy's Dry Goods store and the Eagle Rock Candy factory.

TUJUNGA

FIRE BREAKS UP CHURCH SERVICE

Congregation Rushes Out in Middle of Sermon to Battle Flames

For an individual to quit a church in the midst of services is generally considered, to put it mildly, as disrespectful. For half the congregation to get up and rush out would, in most cases, be little less than irreligious.

Yet the congregation of the Tujunga Community church rose en masse at Sunday morning services while Rev. Stotts was in the middle of a carefully prepared sermon and left the church suddenly. In fact, they left very hurriedly and determinedly, yet no one has been found yet who considers that they showed any lack of respect for the gospel or the pastor.

Because—there was a fire, and when a fire starts in Tujunga every Tujunga drops whatever he may be doing and shows considerable interest in said fire. He also shows much speed in getting his most serviceable shovel in action at the seat of trouble.

Attacked in Rear

And speaking of seats of trouble, one of the community's best little volunteer fire fighters, who need not be embarrassed by being named here, recently became so engrossed in shoveling dirt on a brush fire that he failed to notice a counter attack of the flames, with the result that an intimate portion of his trousers was damaged. There was no insurance.

but, fortunately, his coat covered the loss.

However, to get back to the Sunday fire. The degree to which the necessity for a prompt response to fire alarms has been impressed on residents of the Verdugo hills in general was demonstrated by this congregation in particular.

All dressed in their best bibs and tuckers and in peaceful frame of mind, when the alarm was sounded, they rushed to San Ysidro and Los Angeles streets where a brush fire had started from sparks blown from an incinerator.

Nor did the bibs and tuckers hinder the efficiency of the wearers in applying sand and dirt to the flames, a primitive method that is still very effective in the absence of real fire extinguishing equipment.

Remnants of the recent wind storm made the situation unusually dangerous and for a few minutes the homes of Miss Zoe Gilbert, one of Tujunga's pioneer residents, and Dr. Raymond Hatch were threatened.

But the sand shoveling method has been too long practiced by the little home protectors to surrender to small fires and the flames were soon out and the volunteers at liberty to return to their worship, somewhat soiled as to bib and tucker, but with undiminished ardor.

And this can go on record as one case where the congregation walked (rapidly) out on their minister and he rebuked them not. Whittier Harris has leased two lots on Michigan avenue to the San Seelig Co. for a period of ten years at a rental of $80 per month. The Seelig Company will erect a model store on the property.

ROOF CATCHES FIRE

A defective flue in the home of J. M. Primes, 323 North Howard street, set the roof on fire yesterday afternoon at 2:45. The blaze was extinguished by the fire department before damage of any extent had been done.
